

A Photo story by Andrea Slip

Yes, I am leaving.... No, not from writing stories or from posting photos of my lingerie but after many years I am retiring from work. Work has often been a constant theme running throughout my photos, stories and captions. Often my photos would be captioned with dressing for work or home from work. Sometimes the caption would be hard at work or even wank at work. Well, no more, I have left work, I have retired.

There were many times when I would dress in pretty lingerie for my job in an office. I would have loved to put on a smart office skirt and blouse over my slip and bra. But that was a fantasy of course, I was never brave enough to go cross-dressed to work.

But I would wear panties, bra, stockings, suspenders and a slip. Sometimes a nice full slip.

Sometimes a nice half-slip.

No one would know what pretty lingerie I would be wearing under my shirt and black trousers. Would I be wearing the prettiest lingerie and stockings in an office full of women? I probably was.

I wouldn't wear socks and sometimes slipped off my shoes. Someone might have spotted the vision toes of my sheer black nylon stockings. You can't pretend these are socks. If any of my colleagues did notice or had their suspicions, they never said anything to me. Perhaps they gossiped about it when I was at lunch.

"I could swear Andy was wearing sheer pop socks today, they were definitely not regular men's socks."

"I saw what I thought was the back of a bra through his white shirt the other day."

They giggled

"Perhaps he wasn't wearing pop socks, maybe it was stockings and suspenders. I swear I could see a suspender tab pulled tight through his trousers."

"Some men do that. I made my Ronnie wear my panties last week, black lacy ones, they were not big enough to hold him in as he got stiff as a board. Perhaps I should get him into my stockings and suspenders next."

Gales of laughter as they laughed at the thought of men wearing lingerie. But some men like wearing lingerie. How unfair is it that women can wear a skirt or trousers to work but men shouldn't wear a skirt or dress.

I would sometimes wear a very thin white blouse. My lacy slip and bra would show through the sheer white material, although I would often keep my fleece zipped up but then unzip to take a quick photo.

On the way to work I would sometimes lift my shirt and take a sneaky photo of my lacy slip. I once got noticed by a motor cyclist, he gave me a thumbs up. Perhaps I wasn't the only man wearing lingerie to work that day, maybe he was wearing panties and bra under his leathers? What would happen if he fell off his bike and had to go to hospital? Fortunately, I never had a problem at work with an accident.

If it was quiet in the office, I might take off my fleece and take a few photos. If anyone had come into my office, they would have seen my lacy slip and bra straps from behind, no mistaking that.

Just imagine if it was another man, who was also a slip lover, that had spotted the tell-tale signs of lingerie, the loose bra strap, the sheer stockings on show at the ankle. Perhaps they would have demanded to see more in the toilet. I would have to unbutton my blouse to reveal the lacy slip and bra underneath.

But then they would have to reveal that they too were wearing lingerie. When they opened their shirt perhaps they would reveal they are wearing a lacy black bra and flowery camisole under their male shirt.

Or perhaps they would drop their trousers and lift their shirt to reveal a black lacy bra, lace edged French knickers and black stockings. What would that have led to?

I expect some wanking each other's stiff clitties may have occurred, until we spurted over each other's panties and stockings. Maybe if it was you, you would have wanted to suck me off instead.

What actually happened was it was just me in the toilet taking photos of my own stiff clitty showing through my sheer panties.

I was hard at work most days and often had to go the toilet to have a wank, just like this.

I was inspired to wear two snowy slips to work when it was wintery weather.

When I got home, I put on a blouse, a skirt and some high heels. I imagined that I had worn that whole outfit to work. That got me hard.

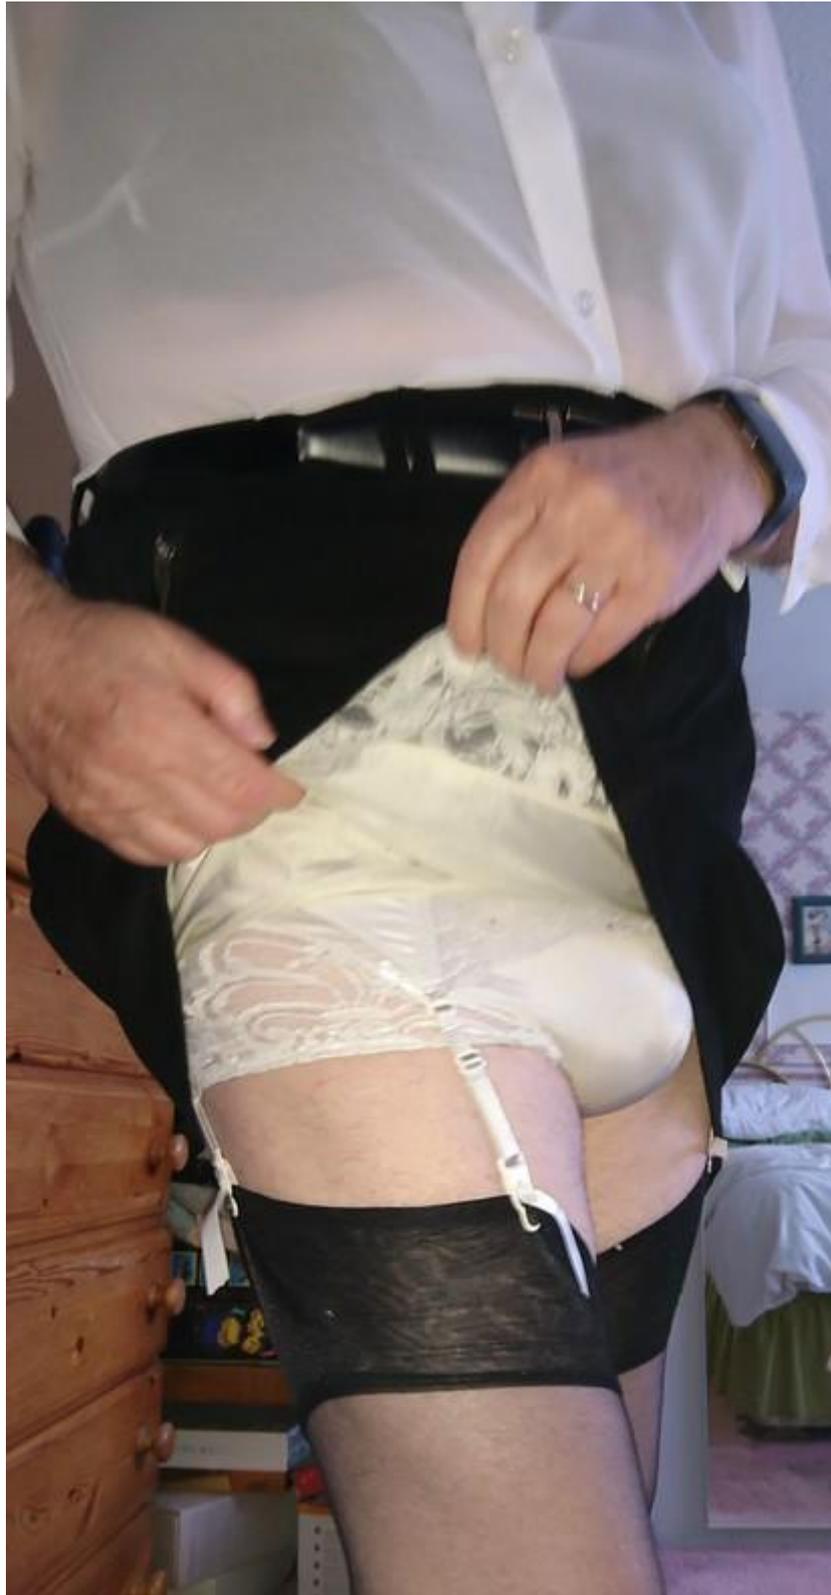

What I really wanted to do was wear a dress to work but it never happened in the office, until some unexpected opportunities arose.

There were many times when I would have loved to wear a risque outfit to the office, my big boobs bursting out of a low top, my lace slip peeping out of from under my short office skirt and just a hint of sheer stocking tops. Perhaps I would have been told off by my manager to cover myself up.

Or perhaps she would take me to her office and reveal that she too liked wearing slips and stockings to the office. I wasn't the only one wearing the prettiest lingerie that day.

There was a major snowfall in 2018 that shut the office and we had to work from home. It was an opportunity not to be missed. I was able to put on my VF panties, suspenders, black stockings, a black bra and a white slip in my bedroom.

Nothing new there but I was able to put on a black skirt, a white blouse and black high-heeled sandals and go to work downstairs. I sat at my computer in my home office and got some work done online. My white lace edged slip was peeping out from under my black skirt and caressing the tops of my sheer stockings, it was somewhat distracting.

I had to find time to take some upskirt photos of me hard at work.

Then Covid struck in 2019. Although this was a sad time when many people lost their lives it was also another opportunity for dressing up and working from the home office.

Although it was lovely to fully dressed in my home office looking down at my lace edged slip peeping out over my lace top stockings there was risk, the Teams video call.

Nobody could see my skirt, peeping slip and stockings but they might see the bust of my lacy slip showing through the sheer blouse I was wearing in my home office that day.

What if the boss made an unexpected call and you hadn't time to turn off the camera. What a surprise that it would be, caught wearing ladies' clothes in the home office! It never happened to me; I always had my camera off unless it was a planned meeting and I was wearing something that covered me up.

Perhaps the boss would demand to see if you wearing a skirt and if so what was under the skirt. When you had to lift your skirt and slip he would see you were wearing silky panties, stockings and suspenders. Maybe, just maybe, you could hear him having a wank over this delightful and sexy sight.

This was a caption from one of the week's I was working at home. Different lingerie every day.

On another week I was working from home, I wore lots more skirts and blouses with a slip showing by peeping out from under my skirt or showing through my sheer blouse.

I also wore a thin dress that clearly showed my slip.

After Covid it was back to getting dressed for work in a slip and lingerie.

I had to wait until I got home from work to slip on a blouse, skirt and high heeled shoes or boots. I loved this combination of a sheer black blouse that showed the top of my slip and the hem peeping out from under my skirt.

Non-discriminatory dress code for staff

The women laughed, the men cried, except one. George had to read the email twice on Friday morning. He knew the company had been in trouble in the media for sending one of the women on reception home for refusing to wear high heels. MP's had grilled the CEO. He had been told in no uncertain terms by the Select Committee on Employment that he could not enforce the company policy of making reception staff wear high heels and dark nylons unless the men in admin were required to wear them as well. As if...

So, the CEO had decided he would take the MP's at their word and keep the dress code by reclassifying all admin staff as secretaries. Which meant George was now a secretary and had to wear the "secretary uniform" of silky white blouse, black skirt, black nylons and stiletto heels or find another job. George was just about the only male admin person who did not walk out. He had only just started this job and wanted to keep it. The fact that he was a closet transvestite was also a factor. He was excited at this opportunity to dress up all day at work en-femme.

So, after a little bit of experimenting, with some help from the other secretaries, that Georgina turned up for work the following Monday all kited out in the required dress code. Georgina was thrilled to have the slightest excuse to flash her lacy white petticoat, and gorgeous stocking clad legs to all the office, from under her black skirt and show her pink lacy bra under her thin, silky blouse.

Thank goodness for non-discriminatory dress codes.

Sometimes a story I had seen in the news inspired a caption, like this one.

This pale green full slip and bra were found in the gents toilet at 1.30pm on Friday 27th Nov on the 1st floor of the admin block. Will the owner please come to HR in room 101 to collect the bra and slip. There may need to be a discussion about why a man wore women's underwear to work and then removed it in contravention of SOFTWARE04 staff uniform code. Slips and bras must be worn at all times by all employees. ID badge is for sizing.

TO BE POSTED ON ALL STAFF NOTICEBOARDS

And another caption, but this one never happened at work, it was just a fantasy

Lots of my stories feature workplaces. Most are set in a conventional office but there are also in other workplaces, such as the dentist, the Royal Navy, a department store, a lawyer's office and even the art department of a secondary school.

There is that blue dress again. It featured in Art Teacher. Please do explore some the links to my work stories listed below.

The End
