Facilitated and Led by Anne M Luther and Emily Foytlin

While for parents and families, the birth of child is a joyous occasion, for the newborn it is an original trauma. Being thrust out of the safe and secure womb of the mother is the beginning of an adventure through many stages and transitions. With the very best parents and caregivers, all along the way the child will encounter needs and challenges, not all that will be adequately met. As an adult, even into senior years, we have opportunity for further healing as well as for further integration of our playful child within.

Emily Foytlin will join us to engage that more playful inner child even as we tend to what may be unfinished and in need of further healing. Emily works with the Yellow Butterfly Foundation, is an artist and loves to encourage others to embrace their creativity. She has a passion for healing through holistic health and guiding others in that process.
