Bath's Park Lane Big Band celebrates 25 years with special anniversary concert at Komedia
Sunday 23rd November 2025 – Komedia, Bath

My name is Alex and I live locally in Bath with my husband and 2 children. I've been playing saxophone in the Park Lane Big Band for around 23 years and the band has been a huge part of my life. To do anything for 23 years must mean it's fun, right!? This year is really special as it's the band's 25th Anniversary. To celebrate, we are pulling out all the stops and playing what is to be a fantastic gig at Komedia in Bath on Sunday 23rd November 2025.

Park Lane Big Band was formed in late 2000 by Dave Pegler, then a music teacher at Monkton Combe School. We started rehearsing all those years ago at King Edwards School, but have moved throughout the years to the Weston Pub in Newbridge (in that smoky back room if you remember it?) and now at the village Hall in Landridge. We played our first gig just two months after our first rehearsal – and have been a cornerstone of the local jazz scene ever since. You may have seen us at the Motoring pageant organised by the Rotary club in June, busking in front of the Pump Rooms at Christmas time (again raising much needed cash for the Rotary club) or playing at the Golf Club in Lansdown in our monthly gigs. We have raised over £10,000 in the last 3 years for charities. You may have even attended a wedding or a party where we have entertained. If you have seen us, we'd love to see you again. If you haven't, come and see us at Komedia on the 23rd of November. You will be in for a treat!

We are an 18-piece ensemble comprising of five saxophones, four trombones, four trumpets, rhythm section, and vocals. We perform everything from the timeless swing of Duke Ellington and Glenn Miller to the modern energy of Gordon Goodwin and Tom Kubis.

This anniversary holds extra significance. In January 2022, just after retiring, founder Dave Pegler suffered a massive stroke on the first day of a skiing holiday in Italy. With only a 50/50 chance of survival after emergency brain surgery, Dave's recovery has been long and challenging – but his determination, and the support of his wife Lucy, have brought him back to enjoy the music he loves. He now attends as many gigs as possible, a living inspiration to the band and its loyal fans.

Dave's passion and vision created something truly special. The 25th anniversary concert is not only a celebration of our music, but also of the people and community that have kept the big band tradition alive in Bath. The Komedia show promises a programme that spans the decades – transporting audiences from smoky jazz clubs to grand ballrooms, with music that will have you tapping your feet and even dancing in the aisles. Hope to see you there!

Bristol Avon Rivers Trust (BART) announces Findings from 2025 RiverBlitz Survey

Healthy rivers are vital to our communities. They support wildlife, help us adapt to climate change, improve our wellbeing, and strengthen local economies. Safeguarding these waterways for the future can only be achieved by working together, and for the past ten years Bristol Avon Rivers Trust (BART) has been promoting this through the annual Bristol Avon RiverBlitz (formerly WaterBlitz).

From the Mendips in the south, through South Gloucestershire in the north, and all the way to Devizes in the east, local people joined forces to test the health of their rivers. Armed with simple water testing kits, volunteers measured nutrient levels, providing vital data on river health. This year's RiverBlitz saw volunteers collect 267 samples across the catchment - an increase on last year's effort. Results from 2025, along with every year since 2016, can be explored on BART's interactive RiverBlitz Data Explorer map.

Bristol Avon RiverBlitz volunteers test nitrate and phosphate levels in our rivers. These nutrients enter rivers from a range of sources including agricultural fertilisers and manure, sewage discharges, urban run-off, and common household products such as detergents. Excess nutrients can trigger rapid growth of plants and algae. This reduces oxygen in the water, blocks sunlight, and can suffocate fish and other aquatic life. The impacts extend beyond nature: nutrient pollution can damage farming and fisheries, reduce opportunities for recreation and tourism, lower property values, and even pose risks to public health. Tackling nutrient pollution is therefore essential for both ecological health and community wellbeing.

2025 RiverBlitz results

The annual Bristol Avon RiverBlitz provides a snapshot of water quality in the rivers and streams in the Bristol Avon catchment for a short period in July. This year, results showed that 70% of sites sampled had high levels of nutrients (phosphate & nitrate combined). This was just below the average (2016-2024) of 74% of sites having high nutrients and similar to last year's 69%. Interestingly, nitrate levels were lower than average and phosphate levels were higher.

Nitrates - The percentage of sites with high nitrate fell sharply, from 64% in 2024 to 40% in 2025, and was well below the average (2016-2024) of 62%. Although fewer sites had high nitrates, the number of sites with low nitrates was around average with 13% having low nitrates in 2025 compared to the 10% average. The hot and dry summer of 2025 could have reduced surface runoff and leaching, limiting the amount of nitrogen washed into rivers compared with wetter years.

Phosphates - The percentage of sites with high phosphate levels was noticeably higher than the average, with 61% sites sampled having high phosphate in 2025 compared to the average of 40% of sites sampled.

The percentage of sites with low phosphate was substantially lower with only 19% of sites sampled having low phosphate compared to the 40% average. The results indicate that phosphates were still entering or persisting in our watercourses in July and the particularly low river levels probably meant phosphates were more concentrated.

Despite these overall trends, there were places where water quality was better than previous years. For example, low nutrient levels were recorded in the Little Avon in Wickwar, The Oldbury Pill, and in Sutton Benger. And while nutrients like nitrate and phosphate are important indicators, they're only one part of the story. Other factors, such as bacteria, chemical pollutants, habitat quality, and changes in river flow, also have a huge impact on how healthy our rivers are.

While it doesn't capture every detail, the data gives a vital big-picture view of river health across the catchment, fuelling action to protect, restore, and celebrate our rivers. Bristol Avon Rivers Trust would like to thank every volunteer and community member who took part. We're already looking ahead with excitement to RiverBlitz 2026 and another opportunity to discover more together.

A big thank you goes to Wessex Water and The Big Give for funding this year's RiverBlitz. For more information about Bristol Avon Rivers Trust and their work to create a clear future for our rivers, please visit Local charity Share and Repair has lots going on to help you to keep your stuff working for longer and save money along the way.

Their Southdown Repair Cafe is on at the Methodist Church Centre, BA2 1NJ on the first Saturday of the month, their Weston Repair Cafe is on the second Saturday at the Weston Hub BA1 4EH and their Bear Flat Repair Cafe is on the third Saturday of the month at Bruton Community Hall, BA2 4QJ. No need to book, just drop by if you want something repaired, but bear in mind the earlier the better and they don't take any new repairs half an hour before they close.

Share and Repair has recently settled into their new home at the Second Floor, Redbridge House, Lower Bristol Road, BA2 3EW. Why not book a sewing or general repair slot there if you can't make a Repair Cafe, or pop in to borrow something from their Library of Things. Like a book library, but full of stuff, from hedge trimmers to gazebos, all available to borrow for a small fee. Find out more about all these things and more on their website www.shareandrepair.org.uk. Watch out for their new locker collection points for their Library of Things in Mulberry Park Hub, which launches this month and will offer self-service access to their most popular items.

Bath Young Inventor of the Year award.

Twins, Zoe and Ben of St Lawrence School, Bath are joint winners of this year's Young Inventor of the Year competition. The competition which is celebrating its 10th year anniversary, is supported by 44AD Artspace, Bath Medical Museum and the Museum of Bath at work. The award ceremony was hosted by Stuart Burroughs, curator of MoBAW on Saturday October 4th.

He welcomed the inventors and audience to the museum, by reminding them that Bath is a centre for inventions, from Harbutt and his plasticine to Dyson and his vacuum cleaner. He invited all attending to wander around the museum to see examples of more Bath based inventions including Stotherts great cranes, the angle poise lamp and Pitman's shorthand.

Katie O'Brien of 44AD who presented the trophy and certificates commented that "It was a great thrill to see the innovative and imaginative entries this year and to involve twins was an exciting addition to the competition, although the very first competition was won by a team of two girls."

"We are hoping to start the whole process early next year. It is such a useful, intriguing and absorbing event," explained Stuart. "We will be opening the Award again on February 1st 2026 and we look forward to more entries for the 2026 award".

Lettuce introduce you to something new at the RUH!

The Royal United Hospitals (RUH) Bath NHS Foundation Trust has teamed up with local grocer Dean Cooper, from Wild About Fruit and Veg, to provide a fresh produce stall at the hospital's Weston site.

Located outside the Brownsword Therapies Centre, Dean and his team have an amazing range of fresh fruit and vegetables for sale, from the familiar carrots, potatoes and strawberries through to more unusual items such as dragon fruit.

The stall is on site every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, from 10am to 3pm, and is already proving popular with staff and visitors. The fruit and vegetable stall is the latest addition to the RUH to provide patients, visitors and staff with more food and drink choices when they are at the hospital.

Barry Fennell, Senior Catering Lead at the RUH, said "Staff told us they would love to be able to pick up a few essentials during their busy day. As a hospital we are all about supporting healthy choices, so I'm delighted we've been able to work with Dean to bring fruit and veg right to our doorstep. The stall is open to all, you don't have to work here or be a patient at the RUH, anyone from the local community is welcome to pop by for some lovely fresh produce. I know Dean and his team have lots of ideas in the pipeline, starting with fruit baskets which would make great gifts for patients."

The RUH also hosts a monthly Foodie Fayre, featuring vendors from across the area offering a range of street food options – recent stalls have included authentic Caribbean, Sri Lankan, Japanese and Greek dishes.
