

Why giving children the chicken pox jab could give YOU shingles

By Jerome Burne for MailOnline
14:44 EDT 02 Mar 2009 , updated 21:08 EDT 03 Mar 2009

1 comment

Children might soon be vaccinated against chicken pox, according to recent reports. But some experts question the need for a vaccine against an infection that's so mild - especially when it could put thousands of elderly people at greater risk of shingles.

