

Sign up for one clinic or all 4 in the series! These clinics were created to get your player out there and working on their game! Clinics are categorized by player age, however, players will be split into small groups based on ability level. Players will work on fundamentals, strategy and mental preparation during each clinic. Players can sign up for any clinic they would like – these are not intended to be consecutive. Each session players will work on different skillsets but one week does not build on the next.
