Are digital humans right for your training needs?

Are you thinking of upgrading your business training courses using digital human beings?

Let's get started with this quick introduction...

2021

"Our Digital Humans are the Rockstars of corporate training, creating consistently high quality learning experiences all year round"

Kevin Kachidza, Founder & CEO of Sarafin AI

Click through to the next page for the basic questions you need to ask when considering Digital Employees in your organization.

#1: Does your business have critical training needs?

Many professions and job functions require evidence of ongoing learning & development

- Do you currently use e-learning or screen based training?

- Do you rely on human trainers who may or may not deliver high quality training courses to your colleagues?

- Does your organization need new ways to deliver consistenly high quality training to remote and on-site employees?

#2: Do you have existing written training material?

Sarafin AI can easily convert all your existing training material into beautiful, chapter driven, learning modules!

- Customer Service Training
- Employee Onboarding Material
- Cyber Security Awareness
- Health & Safety
- Diversity & Inclusion
- Technical Training
- Other internal training resources

#3 Would you like Sarafin to convert any existing training into courses delivered by digital humans?

Digital Humans can deliver training on any subject, just like real Human trainers (without the human faults)

Also, people learn faster and retain more information through a combination of:

- Visuals (seeing)
- Audio (hearing)
- Kinesthetics (doing)

At Sarafin, we combine all these insights to create compelling and memorable video courses which are built to ensure both effective learning outcomes and a clear training audit trail.

It's that easy! You can leave the rest to Sarafin :)

We suggest you consider making some quick notes based on these three final questions!

- How many users/employees do you need to train?
- Do you need us to develop training courses for you?
- What is your ideal delivery date of your first courses?
