

Hung Cao

Hung Cao is a senior advisor to Polaris National Security. He is the Vice President for Navy and Marine Corps programs at CACI International.

Hung arrived in the United States in 1975 as a refugee from Vietnam. He spent most of his youth in West Africa and returned to the United States in 1982. He entered the Navy in 1989 as a Seaman recruit and later graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1996 with a Bachelor of Science in Ocean Engineering. Hung also holds a Master of Science in Applied Physics from the Naval Postgraduate School and he is a Fellow with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Seminar XXI for U.S. national security and foreign policy and Harvard Senior Executive Leadership. Hung retired in October 2021 as Captain, dedicating 25 years in Navy Special Operations with multiple operational and combat deployments.

Hung retired in October 2021 as Captain, dedicating 25 years in Navy Special Operations with multiple operational and combat deployments. As a Navy Deep Sea Diver, Hung conducted high profile salvage operations including the recovery of John F. Kennedy Jr. and the Civil War Ironclad USS MONITOR. He commanded the Naval Diving and Salvage Training Center where he oversaw the training of more than 4000 special operations divers from all military branches. During his last combat deployment in 2020-2021 he was the Director of counter-Improvised Threats throughout Afghanistan. Hung served numerous staff tours, including Aide to the U.S. Sixth Fleet Commander / NATO Joint command Lisbon, and a Requirements Officer on the Staff of the Chief of Naval Operations.

Hung serves the community where he lives. He is an Assistant Scout Master, mentoring more than twenty boys to the rank of Eagle Scout. He established and trained the Monterey County Sheriff's bomb squad on his off-duty time while at Naval Postgraduate School. He created a non-profit organization, Audible Eggs using technology for IEDs to help visually impaired children. He is currently on the board of advisors for a ETS Sponsorship Program, a veteran service organization. Hung was the 2022 Republican nominee for Virginia's Tenth Congressional District. He is married to his wife of 24 years and they have five children.