Bio

Avalon Hogans is a writer passionate about creative expression and social change. She is affiliated with the Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs as she was named the 2021-2022 Houston Youth Poet Laureate and was awarded a proclamation for a day in her name from the City of Houston (Avalon Hogans Day, November 17th) for her dedication to civil rights and social justice through her artistry. Since her laureateship, Avalon has collaborated with groups such as the Houston Rockets, the League of Women's Voters, NASA, and more. She is a sophomore at Rice University pursuing degrees in Creative Writing, African-American Studies, and Civic Leadership. In addition to being a full-time student, Avalon is currently a fellow for the Contemporary Arts Museum through their collaboration with the Houston Freedmen's Town Conservancy. Aside from her fellowship, Avalon is revising libretto for Mami Wata: Uncovering Heritage Through Opera, which debuted last April at Alta Arts and will play in full at Rice University next Spring. Avalon is also creative directing numerous productions including a fashion show and a Black History Month showcase, and she is working on a poetry and photography book.
