17 Encouragements for Cancer Patients

Being diagnosed with cancer can bring about many negative mindsets associated with the upcoming physical and mental strain that you will be undergoing through your battle. Sharing some words of encouragement for cancer patients will help to remind them that they are not alone and additional options do exist as well. The below quotes serve as perfect testaments to encourage your or their continuous fight.

Always bear in mind that your own resolution to succeed is more important than any other one thing.

Be aware of wonder. Live a balanced life – learn some, think some, draw and paint some, sing and dance some, play and work every day some.

Cancer may take away all of my physical abilities. It cannot touch my mind, it cannot touch my heart, and it cannot touch my soul.

Cancer didn't bring me to my knees, it brought me to my feet.

Cancer is a word, not a sentence.

Don't lose hope. When the sun goes down, the stars come out.

Faith is daring to go beyond what the eyes can see.

It's about focusing on the fight and not the fright.

More than 10 million Americans are living with cancer, and they demonstrate the ever-increasing possibility of living beyond cancer.

Remember: You're not dying from cancer, you're living with it.

Some days there won't be a song in your heart. Sing anyway.

The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience, but where he stands at a time of challenge and controversy.

The wish for healing has always been half of health.

Time is shortening. But every day that I challenge this cancer and survive is a victory for me.

We must embrace pain and burn it as fuel for our journey.

When written in Chinese, the word 'crisis' is composed of two characters – one represents danger, the other represents opportunity.

When you get to the end of your rope, tie a knot and hang on.

And one I think should be included: (Nancy Lewis added) Let friends & family IN. Let them help you, YOU need it and so do they.
