Toni D. Rivera, is an author, activist and human-trafficking survivor who has single-handedly rescued more than 2,000 trafficked individuals across the U.S., earning her the moniker, The Modern Day Harriet Tubman.

A victim of trafficking at a young age, Rivera has dedicated her life to helping women and children who have been sexually exploited in the United States. Employing her first-hand knowledge, Rivera works with concerned families across the country to rescue, educate and reacclimatise loved ones who have been victimized.

The courageous wife & mother of 5, who has experienced homelessness in her lifetime established the R.O.S.E. (Restore Overcome Sexual Exploitation) Organization, a non-profit 501 (c)(3),
