TRICK OR TWEAK?

The latest beauty treatments boast less intervention for more enhancement. Emma Adams smooths the five hottest tweaks on the market

The world of aesthetics is becoming ever more nuanced, delicate and sophisticated. Tweaks—once considered the early 2000s as a middle ground between surgical intervention and through facial—now come in such a high-on-precision and low-on-intrusion that it's hard to tell if they're really tweaks or not.

Below, the latest and greatest: the five hottest tweaks on the market that can penetrate deeply (from 1mm to 4mm) into the skin without risking pigmentation or loss of facial volume. In other words, on the body.

• For acne and pregnancy scars. Each session requires a 60-minute prep, where the face is numbed with an analgesic gel for the treatment itself takes 20 minutes. It's uncomfortable, but the only downtime is a few hours of redness.

THE LIGHTER FACELIFT
Morpheus 8 is a unique kind of skin-tightening treatment that uses microneedling combined with radio frequency to achieve a face-lifting effect. "It delivers energy deep into the skin in short bursts using microneedles, tightening and lifting the deeper layers through collagen stimulation," explains aesthetic doctor Dr David Jack. Morpheus 8 is one of few treatments on the market that can penetrate deeply (from 1mm to 4mm) into the skin without risking pigmentation or loss of facial volume. In other words, on the body.

THE MODERN BROW LAMINATION
A kind of perm for the brows, this non-surgical treatment lifts and sets the brows. The hair is treated with a chemical solution that makes them more pliable, before they're brushed up and set into place, giving them a fluffy, feathery look without the pain. "Lamination is such a natural and youthful-looking way of accentuating the brows," says Sophia, a technician with experience of dark circles. "My clients love it because it's so quick and easy to do." Dr. Maryjo Zamboni, a board-certified dermatologist, says, "I've seen a lot of people who are looking for a non-surgical way to lift their brows. This is a great option for them."

THE NEXT-GEN LASER
Dr. David Jack's favorite method of laser is a newly powered laser, with each patient receiving a custom-tailored treatment plan. The EVO Laser First gives the brightest benefits of a laser without the risk of a more aggressive treatment. "It's a great option for people who want to lift their brows without the pain of a more aggressive treatment," says Sophia, a technician with
