

I saw Hermann Peine for therapy, 2002-2003. Dr. Peine is a licensed psychologist who also teaches at the University of Utah, and I took a Children's Literature class from him. He knows Gordon on a limited social basis, so his limited evaluation is based on the information I provided him and the limited evaluation he read of Victor Cline's. Hermann is married to Louise Merkely and is Parry Merkely's sister (#3, Testimonies) so he knows him, indirectly, through both of them. Dr. Peine describes Gordon as a bright, articulate, creative showman, channeling through a lot of relationships and employers while living his extreme lifestyle, showing a need for grandiosity and admiration while exhibiting a lack of empathy, characterizing himself as superior to others, having a sense of entitlement, interpersonally exploitative, taking advantage of others, often by lying and deception to achieve his own gains, a quality actor who can portray himself as remorseful and repentant, yet lacking empathy for others because he is unwilling or unable to recognize or identify with the feelings and needs of others, often showing arrogant behavior and attitudes towards others who are unable to assist him in achieving his goals, all characteristic of individuals having a narcissistic personality disorder which Dr. Peine argues is extremely hard on children and all members of the family. Dr. Peine also notes his hyper-sexuality often oriented towards young men, suggesting additional non-ethical behavior to cover up such excesses.

Dr. Peine would say that for our entire marriage, Gordon has inflicted mental and emotional abuse on me and other family members, that my emotional liability and stress are highly correlated with the distortion, deception and abuse suffered in my relationship with Gordon. I told Dr. Peine that I felt Gordon was potentially as dangerous to me as Mark Hacking was to his wife. He said that based on the history of the Bowen's relationship, my fear for the wellbeing and health of my children is clinically quite rational.

Dr. Peine recommends a psychiatric examination. He says that Gordon's pathology may continue to drive his need for vindication, control and absolution of any past wrongs on his part. Gordon "demand people see the world and relationships his way. His actions have often been labeled as "evil" by many of his past associates. His wife has often been placed in a position of feeling true terror and fears for her safety and that of her children based on Mr. Bowen's past actions and what he has stated in his writings. Based in part on his obsessions, his goal has been to receive worship and adoration by those around him, and if they won't or fail to keep it up, he may attempt to destroy their reputation and disrupt their lives. Mrs. Bowen is the primary target in this group presently. Mr. Bowen has revealed having a personal relationship with and being directed by God. He feels he is a mouthpiece for the divine and this special relationship often absolves him of his wrongs."

II. John Dooner

John Dooner was head of McCann Erickson when Gordon worked there for 1 ½ years and was fired. I spoke briefly with John at the recommendation of Brendan Ryan. John was hesitant to say anything without a subpoena. He would not talk about the incident when Gordon was found tied to the bed and missed the important meeting on the Coke account between McCann and Ogilvy. Gordon often expresses his contempt towards John Dooner, and John is on Gordon's enemy list.

mm. Alma Boyce

This is my 93 year old father, former attorney, who has submitted an affidavit which states that he interviewed Gordon prior to our marriage, concerning the allegations that Gordon had been involved in homosexual activity and that Gordon lied to my father about his homosexuality. (Years later, after our separation, Gordon coldly stated to me, "Of course I lied to your father. You wouldn't have married me if I hadn't.") After the separation, he kept going to my parents seeking their allegiance because he felt he had done nothing wrong and I was cold hearted in not taking him back.

nn. Jean Boyce

My mother, deceased June 26, 2006. My mother did not write an affidavit, but in the two years before she died, she said many times that she felt Gordon had given himself over to the devil, that she was "no good," and couldn't be trusted. Prior to this, he had convinced her that he was a savior to this family and she initially begged me not to divorce him. My mother was on Gordon's enemy list.

oo. Eric Timothy

In Eric's affidavit, he describes Gordon as a pathological liar, dishonest, untrustworthy, unpredictable and irresponsible (to the point of being frightening even to an adult), dissociated, involved in bizarre religious ideas and activities, incapable of truly loving or caring for others, citing the time we were in a serious car accident and Gordon, knowing of the accident and being nearby, refused to come, Gordon's absenteeism concerning Lily which causes Eric to have to act as her dad, confronting Gordon as a family about our suspicions about his homosexuality and Gordon denying it and stating he had a "small" problem with pornography, Gordon going out of his way to have Eric have to sleep in the same bed with him, Gordon never around during the time I was on bedrest with Caleb, Gordon yelling at me when I walked into the house from the hospital with Caleb, because he wanted Lily to come open up Easter presents, never helping me or asking how the new baby was, seeing Gordon's journal left out in plain sight in his New York City apartment which stated Gordon had "evil female spirits" which had taken over his body and caused him to be homosexual, Gordon promising to pay for Eric's medical insurance premiums, medical expenses for depression, and a torn ACL and then failing to do so, Gordon's failing to pay the bills, lying and claiming that he has, Eric meeting with Gordon on February 21, 2004 and telling Gordon that he could not trust him and that he was a liar, and that Eric was irate that Gordon came into the marriage while living a homosexual lifestyle and Gordon telling Eric that he was now only 10% homosexual and that "healers" had helped him to see that he had two evil female spirits in his body that had caused him to be homosexual, but that when they were cast out he felt alive again, but that they had come back and he was having a hard time, Gordon showing Collin and Eric a budget for his monthly expenses in the approximate amount of $68,000, based on conversations with Gordon and reading his journal, that Eric is aware of Gordon's "bizarre" thinking which states that Gordon believes that 1) Collin and Eric have a sexual deviancy problem which was inherited from their natural father, 2) the spirit of Eric's deceased uncle, Steve Boyce, is inside Eric's body, 3) Eric has felt sexual desire towards Gordon, 4) Eric is full of evil and unclean spirits, 5) Gordon is the only one who can save Eric, 6) Eric is not feeling because the pain is so great at the loss of Gordon, 7) Gordon is their chance for redemption because he is the one to heal the Timothy line, the Boyce line, and me (Eric's mother). Eric says that he believes Gordon is a seriously disturbed man, rather than just an absent dishonest, manipulative man, and that although Eric does not blame him for all of his problems or depression, he attributes a lot of this to him because Gordon has lied so much, has never really been there, has never really cared, has caused so much pain to Eric and our family, and has left Eric to try and fill his position as a father.

In the 2 ½ years that Eric lived at home and suffered from depression, had problems with the law, suicidal ideation, sleep disorder, torn ACL etc. that I helped him with on a continual basis which can be documented from all the visits to the psychiatrist, psychologist, court, drug testing, orthopedic specialists, Anasazi Wilderness Survival, The Alpha Academy etc. Eric would say that Gordon's only help was to sneak him away to Disneyland twice with the promise that he would make him a Disney model.

pp. Collin Timothy

In Collin's affidavit, he states that Gordon is a pathological liar, dishonest, untrustworthy, unpredictable, irresponsible, self-indulgent, extremely manipulative, capable of quick and significant anger when someone does not act the way that he expects them to act, dissociated, callous, involved in deviant homosexual activities, bizarre religious ideas and activities, not willing or capable of loving or caring for others, especially small children. Collin states that he is aware of Gordon's fixation on his body (Gordon used to measure him and Eric in detail with the excuse that he was trying to help them see how much they were building their muscles), that Gordon went out of his way to make Collin sleep with him in the same bed, that Collin found homosexual male escorts on Gordon's laptop which Gordon denied were his, but that later reviewing Gordon's cell phone bills it is obvious they were his and indicated a serious and persistent problem with homosexual escort services which he again found in August 2004 on Gordon's laptop. Collin talks about Gordon's pattern of lying to cover his actions, making promises in order to gain favor and manipulate Collin into doing things which he wanted him to do, then breaking those promises, trying to create an image which was completely different than reality. Collin talks about Gordon trying to buy affection by promising gifts or trips, many of which never materialized, buying a BMW M3 for Collin based on a contract for Collin to meet certain criteria, which Collin met, only to find out that the car was on a 36 months lease, refused to buy insurance for the car, but claimed he had, (let the car be repossessed), had Collin do an internship at McGarryBowen summer 2003, promising to pay him $1,500 per week, ($10,000 total) but never paying him, except with a $1000 check that bounced, convinced him to transfer from BYU to Pepperdine and then several times, failed to pay the tuition he'd promised, claiming he had, until after the semester was over which compromised which classes Collin could sign up for, Gordon perpetuating the image of an active member of the LDS Church but rarely attending church services, but inviting general authorities to the home for dinner and attending the temple with Collin prior to his mission even though he was engaged in homosexual behavior at the time. Collin talks about Gordon's secretive behavior, disappearing without warning or communication, canceling at the last minute a trip to Brazil to pick up Collin's brother, Adam from his mission in Brazil, then showing up suddenly when we were in Rio for two days of the trip and disappearing again, being dissociated and never taking any interest in the activities of Collin or his siblings unless there was an opportunity for Gordon to be noticed and receive acclaim, reading Gordon's journal and Gordon stating to Collin personally that Gordon believes his body is inhabited by evil female spirits that are causing him to be homosexual, being subjugated to interrogation by David Hamblin, Gordon's former therapist who has lost his license to practice and is now a proclaimed Indian medicine man who cast out Gordon's evil spirits. Collin claims he was forced by Gordon and David to listen to David defame Collin's deceased father, castigate his mother, and Gordon and David attempting to keep Collin and Eric from attending a three week class in Europe by stealing their passports and plane tickets. Collins tells about Gordon using intimidation to get his way, like the time Gordon threatened Collin he would take away his car or something if Collin didn't live with him in the New York City apartment he said he procured for Collin and him for the summer. Collin tells about Gordon being financially irresponsible in buying extravagant things for gifts and ignoring basic needs of food, shelter, etc. like the time he rented a $14,000/month apartment and claimed he couldn't pay for health or car insurance or other necessities, buying expensive plasma screens for Christmas to show them off, then returning them and never replacing them, frequently leaving me to pay provide for the family, using money left by Collin's father's estate. Collin states that Gordon was never around physically when Collin was growing up, never supported any of his activities or needs, left him alone without supervision or parenting when he had the responsibility of caring for him, has had an extremely negative impact on himself, Eric, Lily, Caleb and myself and will devastate Lily and Caleb if he has sufficient access to them.

qq. Ann Timothy

Ann is my mother-in-law from my first husband, Steve Timothy. She has observed the interaction of Gordon with me and my children for 12 years and can relate his erratic, irresponsible behavior. After my brother's suicide in January 1997, Ann came to stay with us in Connecticut for 6 weeks and Gordon came home only once during that time. She knew he had been fired from his job in January, two weeks after my brother's death, and wondered why he never came home to Connecticut since he didn't even have a job. She remembers him coming to her home for Christmas eve dinner, curling up in a ball in the corner of the room and falling asleep while other members of the family conversed, his disrespect and disdain for members of the Timothy family.

rr. Carolyn Mackenzie

Carolyn is my sister who has lived in New York for over 35 years and is aware of Gordon's behavior in New York City circles and his behavior with our family. Although she was aware of it years earlier, when she knew I was considering divorcing Gordon, she told me about having heard about Gordon's being found tied to a bed incident. Gordon lived with my sister and her husband, Ian MacKenzie, in their apartment in New York for several weeks in 1995 when he moved back to begin a job with Young and Rubicam. Later, Carolyn's friend, Betty Kahn, helped arrange an apartment rental for Gordon and told my sister she was concerned because Gordon kept bringing homosexual men to the apartment. Betty said she did not want to testify.

ss. David Boyce

My brother who is an attorney in Salt Lake City and is aware of Gordon's behavior.

tt. Patty Bowen

Dennis { Gordon's sister-in-law, married to his brother, John. Patty has observed Gordon's erratic, dishonest behavior for years, considers him to be detrimental to Lily and Caleb and my boys.

uu. Judd Funk

Judd was a close friend of Gordon's for many years. He is an attorney, practicing in Los Angeles for New Line Cinema. Judd has observed Gordon's dishonest, erratic behavior for years and has called me several times in the past three years to give me support because he knows Gordon well and is afraid for me and the children.

vv. Martsie Webb

Martsie is a close friend of mine who has observed Gordon's behavior and is supportive of me and the children. Although she became friends with Gordon through me, she will have nothing to do with him. She tells about Gordon appearing in her home one evening at the foot of her bed. She woke up to him standing there and was terribly frightened. He acted as if nothing were wrong and asked her about a house for sale in the neighborhood. While I was still married to Steve, Martsie, Dennis and Gordon talked amongst themselves about helping me financially. They went to his home to pick up a check he promised to donate to the cause, but when they got there, he said he couldn't help financially, although he was having $30,000 of trees and shrubbery delivered to his house that day.

ww. Dennis Webb

* Dennis { Dennis is the mayor of Holladay, married to Martsie Webb, and has known Gordon for over fourteen years. Dennis knows Gordon is devious and has delusional thinking. Gordon was supposed to go to Israel with Dennis, Martsie, Truman and Ann Madsen, and me, but cancelled at the last minute, promised to help pay for Truman and Ann, but did not do so. Dennis was with me when I spoke with Gordon, February 21, 2004 and heard Gordon admit that he had called homosexual male prostitutes when he was watching Lily during my in vitro for Caleb, but added, "I don't remember whether or not they came." Dennis also heard Gordon say to me, when I asked if I could use his credit card to help Eric with medical and other expenses that he had always wanted me to use his credit card. It was followed by Gordon's swiftly cancelling the card, giving me no children support for that month.

xx. Julie Boyce

Julie is my sister-in-law, married to my brother Dave. She is aware of Gordon's devious, dishonest behavior.

yy. Scott and Janene Bowen

Scott is Gordon's brother, married to Janene. I have spoken with Scott at length about Gordon. Scott has experienced Gordon's dishonest, elusive behavior, watched him distance himself from the family, come into town and try to buy off the family with presents. Scott once told me that he feels it would be best for the children if Gordon had nothing to do with them, but he will not testify unless ordered by the court to do so, and is reluctant to go against his brother.

zz. John Bowen

Gordon's brother, married to Patty. John is aware of Gordon's odd, dishonest, elusive behavior. He observed Gordon with my boys and especially after Lily was born. He said he was so disappointed that a child had not caused Gordon to change his behavior, that he observed Gordon's distance and inconsideration to us. He does not believe Gordon will be a good influence for Lily and Caleb, but he is hesitant to testify against his brother.

Aaa. Lisa Waterman

Lisa is Gordon's sister. Gordon has turned to her for emotional support for years and shared only those things that would elicit such support. Gordon has taken Lily and Caleb to visit her in Logan on a few occasions. Lisa is aware of Gordon's dishonest behavior, e.g. saying Lisa was planning a birthday celebration for him at her cabin, April 2006 (and asking for an overnight visit to accommodate the celebration) when in truth there was never any such plan. There were two other times he said he had plans to take the children to her cabin at her invitation when she had not made such an invitation.

Bbb. Kent and Becky Bowen

Gordon's brother and sister-in-law. Kent was involved in keeping Eric's BMW when Gordon took it from Eric and would not tell us where it was. Kent is aware of Gordon's devious behavior, but he is reluctant to talk about it.

ccc. Truman G. Madsen

Truman Madsen has been a personal friend of Gordon's for many years. Gordon went to Truman when he knew we were aware of his homosexuality and apparently he shared details about his homosexual behavior. I believe Gordon told Truman about his father's friend's sexual abuse of Gordon while Gordon's father watched, which is important in countering what he told Heather Walker about having never been sexually abused. Truman said that he would be willing to help and to testify, especially if asked by Christopher Barden. Truman is on Gordon's enemy list.

Ddd. & Eee. Tamina and Randy Ridd.

Tamina and Randy are my friends for over twenty years, Gordon's friends through me. They are presently on a mission in Ecuador. They are aware of Gordon's devious behavior and will have nothing to do with him. He has tried to enlist their support in the past. Their whole family went with me and my sons to pick up my oldest son, Adam, from his mission in Brazil. This is the trip Gordon cancelled from going, then showed up in Rio for 2 days for Collin's birthday.

Ggg. Von Whitby

He hired Gordon to work for their company, Idea Exchange, then did the research on Gordon and found out that he was essentially a fraud and a dishonest man. Rob Brazell said Von knows more about Gordon than Rob does.

Hhhh. Brad Baldwin

Brad was one of the other partners at Idea Exchange and researched Gordon's work history and found the behavior along with Von.

Iiii. Marilyn Lawry

Worked with Gordon in New York and also worked with him on the Salt Lake based company, Idea Exchange. She said that "everyone knows Gordon has a dark side."

Jjjj. Oscar Underwood, Steve Seastrand, Mike Collette—all worked with Gordon at Bonneville and are possible contacts

Kkkk. Kim Anderton

Gordon's hair stylist in Salt Lake City at "Lookin' Good," 486-4445 Vicky Nelson's contact who says that Kim is gay and a resource person to tell us about Gordon's homosexual activity in the gay community in Salt Lake City.

Llll. Homosexual male escorts

Is it possible to identify some of Gordon's favorite and frequented homosexual male escorts, even contact them? and establish this as criminal, behavior since it is illegal to solicit sex for hire?

* Michelle Avanzario Gordon's secretary
at Ogilvy & Mather

He never came on to me sexually, but I knew his story. I told him he was gay when we worked at Ogilvy, so he didn't like me. He always pretended to me this high and mighty church guy, but I never fell for his shit. I just got it about his homosexuality—gaydar. He was always name dropping, using the Church authorities and saying, "I know so and so," or "I have a meeting with so and so." I went to BYU but I was not so into the Church, so he couldn't impress me with his stuff. I confronted him about his hypocrisy, his attitude. But with everything he'd say, "it's about being Christ-like." I think he's a schmuck and a dangerous man and he's definitely a pathological liar. He had young people hanging around him, the youngest I remember was a kid who wanted to be a soap star.

Kkk Dick Allsop

Dick was Gordon's boss at Bonneville. I spoke with Dick three years ago and he said he was willing to testify if summonsed to do so. Apparently, Gordon moved his way up the ladder at Bonneville by deposing those above him, and tried to get Dick Allsop fired. Gordon also went above Dick Allsop and established a "special relationship" with the Brethren, working on projects directly with them instead of through the proper channels. This is the pattern Gordon displayed in advertising as he would establish a personal relationship with the agency's clients, making himself appear indispensable to the clients, thus threatening that if the agency fired him, he would take the clients with him. This happened at Bonneville with the Brethren (he didn't take the Church's business with him, but he did take three of the main people at Bonneville—Kevin Kelly, Parry Merkeley, and Tom Pratt to work with him in New York, "almost single-handedly destroying Bonneville,") at Ogilvy with American Express, at Young and Rubicam with AT&T, and is interestingly being repeated in this divorce. I am the agency. Lily and Caleb are the clients. When I told Gordon we needed to be divorced (essentially firing him from the family), he threatened to take the children, the clients, with him and has proceeded to try and do so.

The rumor was that Gordon was fired for financial dishonesty, but only Dick Allsop knows exactly why Gordon was fired. I believe his testimony is very important.

Kkk Mark Kramer

Mark Kramer

June 2003

In 1993, Mark lived at Gordon's home on Yale Avenue in Salt Lake City, hired to help handle Gordon's local finances while Gordon was in New York City with McCann Erickson. After Gordon was fired from McCann and returned live in the Yale home, Mark continued his job for Gordon. Mark is Lisa Paulsen's brother. Mori and Lisa were neighbors and long-time friends of Gordon's.

I never felt threatened by Gordon. Part of his issue was that he hated reality because of his homosexuality, especially when living in Salt Lake City. Whenever he started to feel that way, he fled his reality. It served him well when he created a world of his own.

I met Gordon early in 1993. I was living in his Yale home with the responsibility of taking care of his local affairs while he worked in New York. The reality was that he had been fired from McCann Erickson, but he played on as if he were still employed by them.

In 1993 Ad Age did an article on him. He fabricated everything. They asked him what he had been doing and he told them he had recently been to Africa on a humanitarian expedition where he helped build a village and dig a well. He also told them that he had gone to England where he had found a rare antique book collection for his father. The truth was that he never went to either of these places. He went out of town a few times, but not to those places. When he was gone, he would call periodically, but often show up unannounced.

He signed 30 checks for me to use to pay the bills. But all the checks started coming back. I called First Security Bank. They told me they couldn't share information on his account. I asked them just to tell me if the checks would or would not clear. Apparently Gordon was $250,000 in the red. But he continued to write checks. I remember he bought a new washer and dryer and whatever else he wanted during that time. He spent $1000 every month on flowers for his home—cut flowers that were displayed in his home.

Mori let him borrow a truck and I watched Gordon do considerable damage to it as he pulled out of the driveway, ripping out part of the rod iron fence. He pretended like it didn't happen. I pointed out the damage and told him I'd watched it happen. He said he didn't know what I was talking about. Gordon was furious with me and blamed me when his Range Rover was repossessed. He was angry that I had not hid it well. I had driven it on an errand and then drove back to Mori and Lisa's and there was someone at the door to repossess the car. During that year, he was always blaming me for his problems.

He owed so many people money. They kept calling and coming by to collect. The gardener and contractors. He owed $1000 for cabinet work and $20,000 to Zachary Gardens that he wouldn't pay. I would get voice messages to him which would say, "I didn't want to believe you were lying to me, but I can't draw any other conclusion. I think people eventually got paid, but it was difficult for them to collect. It was unspeakable immorality. When I learned he was married, my comment was, 'I hope he's not stealing from his wife.'"

I don't know if he knew what he was doing. He would have friends sleep over often and they would always sleep in the same bed. My clothes would disappear and then I'd see him wearing them. He'd never ask. He'd just wear them in front of me without saying anything. All my hygiene stuff would disappear. Then my mountain bike disappeared from the garage. When I asked him about it, he was insulted. But we had not been burglarized. I think maybe he paid one of his debts with my bike.

He'd tell me he was going to New York, but then he'd call from somewhere else. He worked on things at home like ad slogans, but I got the feeling he wasn't really working on anything for someone. He'd have big dinner parties for people like Wally Bennett, Richard Eyre, and Jim Sorenson.

They said he walked away from McCann with money, but I remember seeing a bank statement in which he was $238,000 in debt. I think he had a "Savior" complex. But as Lisa said, "he's a liar and a big façade."

Lll. Bruce Bell (Testimonies #32)

 B Dennis*
I have known Wes Bowen (Gordon's father) since the early 1950's when we worked together at KSL, so I've been very familiar with the family, all the boys and Lisa. In the early 1980's when Gordon was working for Bonneville International, Wes indicated that he was working for a political party on a committee and someone complained that Gordon was gay and shouldn't be on the committee. I knew Gordon was a smart guy and knows his business and figured there was room for everyone. So, Gordon's dad essentially said in the late 80's or early 90's that Gordon was gay. It came up when Wes mentioned it, and I later read in the newspaper that Gordon Bowen was the president of the Log Cabin Society of Massachusetts which is a known Republican gay group. They were supporting Mitt Romney for senator against Ted Kennedy. NO

I could ask around. I know people in the community and I could see what they have to say. Bob Fotheringham who runs an ad agency in SLC and was one of the first jobs Gordon had, Bob said that Gordon was the best pitch man he's ever seen, and Bob's pretty good himself. It was Wes's quiet affirmation when he said, "Well, sure, Gordon is gay." Wes doesn't say, "well, sure" about very many things.

The Bowens have a habit of being self-centered. When you were with Wes, it was all about him. I know Gordon and his dad were enemies. Gordon told me he didn't care for his father. I know there was difficulty in the relationship Wes had with his daughter because he'd been so absent and didn't want anything to do with the children.

Wes was never openly anti LDS. He was more guarded. One of my best friends at Kappa Sigma was gay. It's hard. Gay guys have remarkable fantasy around not being gay, as I'm sure Gordon does. But they live two lives and it's very difficult. (I think Bruce Bell's statement is important because it helps establish the difficulty in the relationship between Gordon and his father.)

Mmm. Mike Washburn

Mike was the CFO at Sundance and is now working at Thanksgiving Point. He told me that Gordon was fired from Sundance from misuse of the company credit card. He is a wonderful and honest man and will probably give more information if subpoenaed. His wife, Debra, is a therapist and talks about Gordon's narcissistic personality disorder and other mental disorders she has observed and her and Mike's close association with Gordon.
