

The Middletown Concert Chorale is celebrating its 30th anniversary this season. The chorale was founded in 1996 by Eileen (Hampshire) Mackintosh, and it's still going strong. Through the years, more than 300 members have sung with the group. It is still the only community chorale in the Middletown area providing a stage for our community's passion for music.

Please join us as we proudly present our spring concert, Songs of Celebration, featuring "Celebrations" by Vincent Persichetti, along with other contemporary favorites. The chorale is now under the direction of Dr. David Crone, and Sue Conklin is our accompanist.
