This Edition is brought to you by Paul & Debbie Viborg at Viborg Sand & Gravel. Backed by over 30 years of experience, the Viborg's take great pride in the quality and craftsmanship of their work – and it shows. Their business is a rarity in that they own all their own equipment, so there are no extra "rental" fees or paying for expensive down time on rentals. Viborg Sand & Gravel also has their own material pits – virtually cutting out the middleman in most cases. And don't forget their "Cart-Away" ready mix concrete service – the most cost-effective way for a homeowner or contractor to complete a smaller project! Give them a call today at (805) 238-4368.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

"Calculating the Californication"

"Will migrating Golden State residents bring left-wing politics to their new homes?"

City Journal – Winter 2020

By Steven Malanga

Beset by high housing costs, crippling taxes, astronomical gas prices, wildfires, and rolling blackouts, Californians are heading for the exits. That's sparking anxiety in places where these Golden State migrants are relocating.

Who is leaving? Who wants to leave? Where are they going? And how do the states where Californians are relocating feel about the influx of migrants from the Golden State?
