Project Manager

“I don't watch IT happen. I don't wonder how IT happens. I make I.T. happen”

Hiring Manager,

I'm a Project Manager Professional with 10 years' experience and 20 years' Information Technology experience developing software products, services, and systems. Military service in the United States Army qualifies me to work and lead in a team environment. Possessing the ability to take raw data or ideas, make an assessment, and define the results into an executable Project Management Plan. This includes high-quality estimates and weighted risk, managed within a process-driven Project Life Cycle.

My experience in all the critical phases of the Software Development Lifecycle has provided me with an extensive technological knowledge base. This includes developer, systems analyst, business analyst, compliance analyst, quality assurance analyst/tester, technical writer, and product owner/trainer. My experiences assure a complete understanding of how strategy and business processes produce quality and compliant digital products for a variety of software platforms serving multiple industries.

With my hybrid skillset and my military affiliation, I've been groomed into an affiliative leader, I manage with attention-to-detail, and I communicate technically and non-technically effectively. These soft skills and techniques have earned me 100% Project Team support to initiate, plan, execute, monitor, control, and successfully deliver business objectives, visions, and expected benefits within scope, time, and budget.

Software Development and Project Management combined have afforded me a rewarding career history that continuously challenges and educates me. However, the most rewarding aspect of managing projects is the satisfaction that comes with leading a team through a project, from idea to completion. With my holistic approach to managing both a project and a team, being a leader is not only rewarding for me but for the team members who get the opportunity to learn from me as well.

If you are seeking an asset to your organization that is knowledgeable in “making I.T. happen” as a leader in technical, strategic, and business management, you have now been formally introduced to your next IT Project Manager. I look forward to interviewing with you to answer additional questions and provide you with professional references concerning my career profile.

Thank you,
