LEGAL NOTICE

ATTENTION all Persons employed by, associated, contracting with, providing services to, and officers and officials of the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR): PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that CDCR has publicly stated CDCR has NO legal authority to imprison and continue to retain any person in the state's prisons without a judgment in the criminal case, (judgment of conviction (JOC) being on file in CDCR's records(1). California law requires a JOC to be filed with the papers in the case; directing "that the defendant be delivered into the custody of the Director of Corrections"; to be imprisoned for the "term of imprisonment fixed by the judgment"; California Penal Code (PC) §§ 1207, 1202a, 2900.(2). A JOC is the ONLY legal document authorizing CDCR to take custody, fix the term of imprisonment and imprison a person. CDCR admits to not having a JOC for any prisoner. Why? The Court did not create one!

Those persons currently imprisoned by CDCR may confirm the absence of a JOC in their case files with the Records Department of the facility in which they are retained and demand immediate and unconditional release from CDCR custody (3). Continued detention without authority (JOC) after actual notice and demand for release by either the prisoner, family or friends, is willful and malicious violation of the laws and Constitutions of California and the United States: actionable in the civil and criminal arenas.

California Correctional Peace Officers Association (CCPOA) State President Glen Stailey has been notified of the illegal custody issue in order that he might advise CCPOA members of the ramifications, of aiding and abetting kidnaping and false imprisonment (4). This NOTICE serves to provide the same advisement to all above named persons and those who ought to take notice.

NOTICE TO THE AGENT IS NOTICE TO THE PRINCIPAL; NOTICE TO THE PRINCIPAL IS NOTICE TO THE AGENT.

The State and CDCR being dilatory in responding to prisoner, demands for release, must now respond to multiple lawsuits (5) naming the State, Governor Gavin Newsom, CDCR, CDCR Secretary Kathleen Allison and CSP Solano Warden Gigi Matteson as defendants, represented by the Attorney General of California. Contact information: Anthony J. Tartaglio, Deputy Attorney General, Office of the Attorney General, 455 Golden Gate Avenue, Suite 11000, San Francisco, CA 94102-7004, 415 510-4400 (Public), 415 510-3602 (Telephone), 415 703-5480 (Facsimile), E-Mail: Anthony.Tartaglio@doj.ca.gov.

LEGAL NOTICE
ATTENTION all Persons employed by, associated, contracting with, providing services to, and officers and officials of the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR): PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that CDCR has publicly stated that CDCR has NO legal authority to imprison and continue to retain any person in the state's prisons without a judgement in the criminal case (Judgement of Conviction, JOC), being on file in the CDCR's records (1). California law requires a JOC to be filed with the papers in the case, directing "that the defendant be delivered into the custody of the Director of Corrections" to be imprisoned for the "term of imprisonment fixed by the judgement." California Penal Code sections 1207, 1202a, 2900, (2). A JOC is the ONLY legal document authorizing CDCR to take custody fix the term of imprisonment and imprison a person CDCR admits to not having a JOC for any prisoner. Why? The Court did not create one!
Those persons currently imprisoned by CDCR may confirm the absence of a JOC in their case files with the Records Department of the facility in which they are retained and demand immediate and unconditional release from CDCR custody (3). Continued detention without authority (JOC) after actual notice and demand for release by either the prisoner, family, or friends, is willful and malicious violation of the laws and Constitutions of California and the United States actionable in the civil and criminal arena
California Correctional Peace Officers Association (CCPOA) State President Glen Staley has been notified of the illegal custody issue in order that he might advise CCPOA members of the ramifications of aiding and abetting kidnapping and false imprisonment (4). This NOTICE serves to provide the same advisement to all above named persons and those who ought to take notice.
NOTICE TO THE AGENT IS NOTICE TO THE PRINCIPAL; NOTICE TO THE PRINCIPAL IS NOTICE TO THE AGENT.
The State and CDCR being dilatory in responding to prisoner demands for release, must now respond to multiple lawsuits (5) naming the State, Governor Gavin Newsom, CDCR, CDCR Secretary Kathleen Allison and CSP Solano Warden Gigi Matteson as defendants, represented by the Attorney General of California

ATTENTION all persons employed by, associated, contracting with, providing services to, and officers and officials of the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR): PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that CDCR has publicly stated CDCR has NO legal authority to imprison and continue to retain any person in the state's prisons without a judgment in the criminal case (judgment of conviction (JOC)) being on file in CDCR's records.¹ California law requires a JOC to be "filed with the papers in the case"; directing "that the defendant be delivered into the custody of the Director of Corrections"; to be imprisoned for "the term of imprisonment fixed by the judgment": California Penal Code (PC) §§ 1207, 1202a, 2900.² A JOC is the ONLY legal document authorizing CDCR to take custody, fix the term of imprisonment and imprison a person. CDCR admits to not having a JOC for any prisoner. Why? The Court did not create one!

Those persons currently imprisoned by CDCR may confirm the absence of a JOC in their case files with the Records Department of the facility in which they are retained and demand immediate and unconditional release from CDCR custody.³ Continued detention without authority (JOC) after actual notice and demand for release by either the prisoner, family or friends, is willful and malicious violation of the laws and Constitutions of California and the United States: actionable in the civil and criminal arenas.

California Correctional Peace Officers Association (CCPOA) State President Glen Stailey has been notified of the illegal custody issue in order that he might advise CCPOA members of the ramifications of aiding and abetting kidnaping and false imprisonment.⁴ This NOTICE serves to provide the same advisement to all above named persons and those who ought to take notice.

NOTICE TO THE AGENT IS NOTICE TO THE PRINCIPAL; NOTICE TO THE PRINCIPAL IS NOTICE TO THE AGENT.

The State and CDCR being dilatory in responding to prisoner demands for release, must now respond to multiple lawsuits naming the State, Governor Gavin Newsom, CDCR, CDCR Secretary Kathleen Allison and CSP Solano Warden Gigi Matteson as defendants, represented by the Attorney General of California.
