Barriers Encountered	During quarter two some of the barriers that continued was illnesses, covid-19, and the virtual world that we are continuing to learn about and live in. When planning for trainings in the months of October, November, and December CCR&R still had to keep Covid-19 in mind and what the Covid-19 protocols would look like to keep the participants, the trainer, and facilitator safe which included, but not limited to disinfection practices (tables, door knobs, chairs), wearing of face coverings, individual pens to sign-in, and tables distanced. The EPI Deery Center Multi-purpose Room capacity is still at 15 participants which continues to be a barrier as providers are in need of training credit and many Black Hawk providers are more interested in attending face to face trainings due to not having access to electronics and/or they do not have computer skills. Even though there may be barriers that come along with face to face trainings during this training season, CCR&R continues to be thankful that we receive funding that makes it possible to provider face to face training opportunities for Black Hawk child care providers, staff, and directors who learn better in a face to face training and are comfortable to come and ready to learn. Additionally, there are still many providers who are still not comfortable coming to face to face trainings or who learn better virtually so it has been great to have the opportunity for them to attend virtual trainings this quarter that Black Hawk and/or CCR&R Region 2 has offered.
Success Stories	This fall during the second quarter providers were offered approximately 25 training opportunities throughout the months of October, November, and December; both virtual and face to face standalone and series were offered through CCR&R Region 2/CCR&R Statewide Webinars. Black Hawk offered a Fire Safety Training in the month October (Fire Safety Month) where Child Care Center Directors/Staff and Child Development Home Providers learned about fire extinguishers, how to use a fire extinguisher, and had the opportunity to participate in the hands-on-portion of putting out a controlled fire with a fire extinguisher. The participants mentioned that “they enjoyed having the opportunity to learn how to use a fire extinguisher to help them prepare for something they hope never happens to them.” Black Hawk recommenced the ChildNet 3.0 Series with six sessions left, Child Development Home Providers continued to gain knowledge, create or update business policies, and learn from other provider’s experiences. They were able to implement activities and skills they learned throughout the 10-week training series into their own child care business. Black Hawk was able to offer three virtual trainings; called Exploring Light & Shadow Part 1 & 2 and Looking at Behaviors – A Different Way, providers enjoy having the opportunity to learn in the comfort of their own homes or work environment virtually. CCR&R continues to appreciate the CVP funds that we receive that help pay for both face to face and virtual training opportunities that would not be possible without the funds that are provided to help pay for trainer fees, trainer mileage, provider incentives that help both child care centers directors/staff and CDH providers implement activities, business practices, health and safety equipment, and literature into their child care businesses to improve the care they provider for children in and throughout the
