When you hear the term “top 1%” most people think about the richest Americans. However, when we think of the “top 1%” we think of our US Armed Forces. Historically only 1% of the population choose to join the military. So, we created the True Top 1% Foundation: We focus on the mental health of our Veterans through Art Therapy.

We are seeking a confident strong and personable individual to head up our sales team, to create and execute our event schedule for smaller events leading to our annual True Top 1% Military Exhibition. You will oversee building new relationships for a variety of event coordinators to give us the best opportunity at these events as well as network with other organizations to benefit the foundation.
