*a*bout US:

Together since 2011, Green Eggs and Jam plays an inventive mixture of funky, jazzy rock with lots of improvisation. This band loves playing together--and that enthusiasm really shows at their gigs.

Band members are:

Tim Mudgett on guitar & vocals, Eric Stover on keys & vocals, Paul Zotter on Bass & vocals, and Tom Noone on Drums & vocals.

Tim and Eric brought some great original songs to the band's first get together. The guys knew right away that they had something very special when they started jamming, "like we had been playing together for years." Each musician brought his own ideas and styles, just played it the way he felt it and it all came together very nicely. The band was surprised at how quickly the music gelled into fun, finely-crafted songs. The band strives to keep it fresh--so you'll rarely hear them play their songs the same way twice. In addition to their originals, the band has a large number of cover songs in their playlist that can be drawn on to achieve the right mix of originals/covers for each audience.
