

THE HEIST FAMILY ROBINSON:
"THE BANK JOB"

by Wilfredo Acosta

CASTING SCRIPT: AMANDA ROBINSON

INT. A LARGE, EMPTY SPACE. NIGHT

AMANDA

Ok. Welcome to the operation of a lifetime. We're about to pull off the heist of the century, and let me tell you, it's going to be a masterpiece.

She picks up a chess piece - The Bishop. She points to Mike.

AMANDA (CONT'D)

11 am. The Bishop, that's you Mike. You'll be our eyes and ears perched up in this building across from the bank. You'll be plugged into their security systems, too. If anything seems off, you let us know.

AMANDA picks up another chess piece: The CASTLE and turns to Philip.

AMANDA (CONT'D)

11.20. The Castle. That's you, Philip. You'll be standing by the taxi stop. You're our muscle. If anyone gets in our way, you'll sort them - smooth as silk. They won't know what hit them.

Another chess piece: The QUEEN.

AMANDA (CONT'D)

11.30. The Queen. That's me. I'll enter the bank, make my way to see the bank manager, overpower him and with his help, head to the vault. Seven minutes later, I'll be out the side door with 3.4 million pounds worth of bonds.

Another chess piece: The KNIGHT.

AMANDA (CONT'D)

11.42. The Knight, that's you, June. You'll have parked here, in the car park. When it's time to make our grand exit, you'll all be waiting, engine revving, ready to whisk us away to safety faster than anyone can blink.

OK. Listen up. Here's how it's going to go.

[END]