Happily Ever After Starts Here

Because of you.

We lost our beloved Finn and knew he would want us to open our hearts to a dog in need.

AXEL is the perfect fit – sweet, smart, playful. Thank you, Britta, for being such a good foster mom 😊

Our kids, and even our youngest Frenchie, are absolutely over the moon! We're grateful to Angels for trusting us with Axel.

We'll provide the safe, loving home he deserves, and he'll be cherished for the rest of his life.

Many rescue dogs are learning the world is safe.

Gentle routines, patience, and positive reinforcement help transform fear into trust.

Confidence is not rushed. It is built one gentle moment at a time.

From Jayce with Performance Dog Training

I've been helping Maverick get ready for his forever home. I can honestly say he may be one of the easiest dogs someone could ever adopt.

Now don't get me wrong—he's got a couple of quirks. Our walks include plenty of pit stops to mark a pole or two. He also has a fairly high prey drive, so he can get a bit distracted at times.

What really stands out about Maverick is his incredibly loving disposition and willingness to please. He listens well, respects boundaries, and is happiest when he can curl up next to someone and soak up some affection.

If you want a loyal companion with a big heart, I'd love to chat with you about our boy!

Spring celebrations and hidden risks for pets.

A little awareness helps keep spring joyful — and safe.

To us, lilies are beautiful.
To a cat, they can be deadly.

Chocolate, Easter grass, festive décor
hold hidden dangers for curious paws.

 SPRING HEALTH ALERT:

SMALL PREVENTION. BIG PROTECTION.

Heartworm disease is silent at first.

By the time symptoms appear,
the damage may already be done.
Prevention is simple.
Treatment is hard.

Ticks are active earlier than many expect.

After outdoor adventures ...
do a quick check
use vet-recommended | prevention.

A tiny monthly act of care can mean years more of tail wags, purrs, and shared mornings.

Small habits help prevent big health problems.

Myth: Shelter dogs are “damaged.”

Truth: Most were once someone’s baby. They slept beside couches, followed footsteps, waited at doors. Then one day, life changed — not because of anything they did.

What you see in a shelter isn’t damage. It’s heartbreak waiting for healing.

Myth: Mixed breeds are unpredictable.

Truth: Mixed breeds are stories written in fur — survival, resilience, second chances.

They may not come with a pedigree, but they come with gratitude you can feel in every wag, every nuzzle, every sigh of finally being safe.

Myth: Adult cats don't bond.

- Truth: Adult cats have known loss. They remember warm windows, familiar voices, gentle hands.
- When they choose you, it isn't casual — it's a quiet, profound act of trust.
- They don't just join your life.
- They give you their heart again.

Indoor cats thrive when their minds stay engaged.

and reduce stress.

Enrichment is love in action.

To our donors, volunteers, social media champions,
food drive organizers, and especially our fosters —
the lifeblood of this rescue — thank you for carrying this work forward with such heart.

*Wishing you and your beloved pets
a joyful, hope-filled spring.*
