

Privacy Policy

Digital Recovery & Mental Health Centre

Privacy Policy

The Digital Recovery Centre is committed to protecting the privacy of individuals who contact or participate in the program.

Information submitted through the website or intake forms is used solely for the purpose of responding to inquiries, determining program eligibility, and coordinating participation in the Digital Recovery Program.

Personal information collected may include name, contact information, and information voluntarily shared about an individual's interest in the program.

Information submitted through forms is stored securely and is not shared with third parties unless required by law.

Participants may request access to or deletion of their information by contacting the Digital Recovery Centre directly.

By submitting information through the Digital Recovery Centre website or forms, individuals consent to the collection and use of their information for program-related purposes.