

PRESS RELEASE

08 September 2022

It is the vision of FuriousFotog® brand to be one of the most trusted providers of imagery for its clients. I shall conduct myself with integrity all the while fostering an environment of creativity, innovation and trust. My core values consist of several elements:

- I strive for quality in the work (photography and designs) I produce, to be the “best in class” in terms of value received for the monetary investment made by Clients.
- I am dedicated to satisfying my Clients, all of them, with respect and understanding of their expectations.
- I will work to provide timely services and delivery as a standard, alongside prompt communication to ensure my Clients are made aware of timelines and any potential delays. Never shall a Client be left wondering when they will get a response, services rendered, or a file delivery.
- I will act with leadership and inspiration, through competence, creativity, and collaborative teamwork.
- I will act with ethics and integrity in all I do and treat others with equal respect, including honesty and fairness in all aspects of the work I perform, while correcting any errors or misunderstandings with professional expediency.
- I take pride in the diversity of individuals who choose to work with me and the ideas that flow from such efforts.

Due to recent and ongoing events prominently displayed in the public arena, along with numerous breaches of FuriousFotog® Image Licensing Agreements, Furious Fotog has decided to divest its interests with Author Robin Andrews and associated pen name Riley Dawson for any and all future work. The publicized details of this person’s actions and core principles are incompatible with the core values of the FuriousFotog® brand.

I will not comment any further on this issue beyond this release and notification of this release. Instead, I will continue to deliver creative and inspiring photography featuring amazing talent for equally amazing clients.
