

NATIONAL ENERGY FINANCE CHALLENGE

This competition challenges teams from the country's top MBA programs to address real-world finance issues relevant to today's dynamic energy industry. Contestants will present their solutions to judges representing multiple facets of the energy finance landscape.

The purpose of the event is to match executives and recruiters with top energy-focused MBA candidates and provide a unique learning experience for the students involved. We expect to host sixteen teams, consisting of four or five students each (minimum of three first-year students).

The 15th Annual National Energy Finance Challenge will be held virtually starting with a keynote and virtual networking reception on Thursday, October 22, 2020 and ending Friday, October 23, 2020.
