

Competitor Bulletin # 1

August 14, 2017

Competitors are reminded of sections 7.7 and 8.1 of the RA PRRs that indicate the penalties for blatant shortcutting of the stage. For the purposes of Rally Wyoming, blatant shortcutting is defined as having less than 2 wheels inside the intended stage road width. The stage road is defined by a combination of the route book, course arrows, natural or temporary barriers, an established road bed, or a path established by grading. We will have marshals observing key portions of the course and you are reminded that they are judges of fact, which means their observations are not subject to appeal.

Whenever you approach a caution note, you are advised to use due care as you encounter the situation. All route book cautions have been arrowed. Caution arrows have been placed preceding the action point at varying distances given the sight lines available and in the interest of providing some reaction time.

Updated Appendix 1 and 2 event activities schedule and summary of leg mileages are attached.

Clerk of the Course
