TREATING SUNBURN

Sunburn is an inflammatory reaction to ultraviolet radiation damage to the skin's outermost layers, says the Skin Cancer Foundation. It is estimated that roughly one-third of the adult population in the United States suffers sunburn annually. Young adults between the ages of 18 and 29 have the highest incidence rate for sunburn, while people age 66 and up have the lowest rates of sunburn. The National Cancer Institute says repeatedly suffering sunburn, particularly at a younger age, puts people at a higher risk for squamous cell carcinoma and melanoma later in life. All sunburns are harmful, and sunburn can occur when people do not apply sunblock thoroughly or repeatedly. When this occurs, people may wonder how to find relief. There are some steps to take, courtesy of the American Academy of Dermatology. It's important to stay hydrated and avoid further sun exposure until completely healed. Taking a cool bath or shower can relieve the skin. Over-the-counter anti-inflammatory drugs like ibuprofen or acetaminophen can reduce redness or pain in the first few hours. Soothing aloe vera gel or soy-based lotions may help. Also, if blisters form, they should not be popped. Blisters serve as a natural bandage to protect the underlying skin from infection. If sunburn is severe and very painful, speak with a health care professional.

EVERY DAY, NEBRASKA EXAMINER journalists work tirelessly to hold government officials to account and report on how state policies affect Nebraskans – and there could hardly be a time when such journalism is more crucial. Guiding our newsroom is a simple command: Dogged. Principled. Dedicated to Nebraska news. Nebraskans want accountability from their elected officials and government. They want to know whether their tax dollars are being well-spent, whether state agencies and local governments are responsive to the people and whether officials, programs and policies are working for the common good. The Nebraska Examiner is a nonprofit, independent news source committed to providing news, scoops and reports important to our state..... 10ctf

Why You Should Work With A Local Print Shop

Expert Consultation - When you work with a local print shop, the expert can help you know what products can accomplish your goals and guide you through the whole print process.

Personal Experience - An online print shop doesn't know you or your business, but your local printer will. You can creatively find solutions for your job instead of trying to find your way through a dense thicket of online options. You benefit from a personal touch you can't get online.

Knowing Your Options - Print projects can be very confusing, which can lead to paying for a print job that doesn't meet your needs. You have to send the job back and start the whole process over. A local printer can show you all your options for colors, papers, sizes, inks, and more. You can touch the different textures and collaborate on what would make your print job exactly what you need.

Collaboration and Problem-Solving - Local printers have the flexibility to work with you to solve problems along with the expertise to make suggestions. If you need graphic design help, they can give you the advice you need or even fix it themselves. You can talk through your needs to find the best solution. You can't do that online.

Shopping Local - Supporting local businesses is important for many reasons. When you choose to shop at local stores, you are not only supporting the local economy, but you are also helping to create jobs in your community.

Convenience - When you work with a local printer, you can often get your printed materials more quickly and with less hassle than if you had to work with a printer located far away. This can be especially important if you need your printed materials quickly or if you have a tight deadline to meet.

Our excellent customer service and high quality printing makes us the most reliable printing partner for all of your projects.

Planned Power Outage Notice

KBR Rural Public Power District customers in the Village of Newport will experience a planned power outage on Thursday, June 25, beginning at 9:00 a.m. and lasting approximately 4 hours.

This outage is necessary to allow crews to perform maintenance on a transmission line switch. We appreciate your patience and understanding as we complete this work to help maintain the reliability of our electrical system.

If you have any questions, please contact KBR Rural Public Power District.

Thank you,

KBR Rural Public Power District

CELEBRATE DAD & All He Does!

CELEBRATE FATHER'S DAY IN UNIQUE WAYS

Father's Day is a celebration of dads near and far. Falling on the third Sunday of June each year, Father's Day presents an opportunity for families to come together and put the spotlight on fathers who work tirelessly for their children and provide them with love and support. Father's Day also is a chance to honor the men who serve as father figures or play special roles in people's lives. It's easy for families to fall into a routine when it comes to celebrating Father's Day. Certainly dinner and gift-giving is traditional, but there are additional ways to provide Dad with the day he deserves. Explore these creative options.

Set Up A Scavenger Hunt

Drag out the suspense of Dad getting his Father's Day gift by hiding it and requiring him to go through a series of clues to find it. When writing up the clue cards, spouses and children can reference particularly happy moments or things around the house that are representative of Dad's love. For example, a clue may read, 'Here's where we like to snuggle together to watch our favorite show.'

Take It Outdoors

June weather tends to be pleasant, and that means Father's Day celebrations can be held outside. Everyone can select a spot that Dad loves to visit, whether it's a hiking trail or a local park, and then plan activities around the chosen location.

Go On An Adventure

Father's Day can be spent engaging in something the family has never tried before that may be exciting for Dad. Maybe he's always wanted to go off-roading on quads or try his skills at hatchet-throwing? The family can get together and choose an activity Dad will find engaging and that everyone can enjoy.

Make It A Beach Day

Dad might just want a break from the hectic pace of life on Father's Day. This is the perfect opportunity to head oceanside. For those who don't live by the coast, a river or lakefront spot can be an ideal alternative. Frequently these are touristy areas, so it could be relatively easy to find an eatery where everyone can make a reservation for lunch or dinner after enjoying a relaxing day with waves lapping the shore. These are just a few clever ways to celebrate Father's Day. Families can choose activities that honor fathers and ensure he is feeling all the love.

TIPS WHEN SHOPPING FOR INSURANCE

Insurance is a necessity that can provide a financial safety net in the case of accidents, natural disasters, injuries, and other emergencies. Adequate coverage can ensure policy holders' lives are not turned upside down when an unexpected event like an auto accident or harsh storm threatens to drain their bank accounts.

The stakes are indeed high when shopping for insurance, as consumers want to be sure the policy they ultimately choose is going to safeguard them if or when they need it. With that in mind, individuals can consider these tips when shopping for insurance.

• Resist any inclination to make price your top priority. Price should not be an afterthought when shopping for insurance, but it's important that consumers avoid making it their mission to find the lowest possible premiums. Though a low-cost policy might suit your immediate financial needs, such a policy may not offer a level of coverage necessary to prevent adverse financial outcomes should you experience accident or injury. It's best to prioritize getting the coverage you need over the lowest possible policy cost.

• Comparison shop. Once you have identified the level of coverage you need, you can then begin comparison shopping. Most insurance providers can issue quotes in a matter of minutes, and many offer similar levels of coverage. So the process of gathering quotes on policies offering similar, if not identical, coverage should not take long.

• Shop around for discounts, too. Savvy consumers know to shop around for discounts that can lower the cost of a given policy. For example, many providers discount their homeowners' policies if policy holders install security features in their homes. Home alarm systems, security cameras and even added exterior lighting might help lower the cost of homeowners' insurance policies. Such discounts can typically be found regardless of which type of policy you're looking for, so shop around or speak directly with customer service representatives to identify ways to lower the cost of coverage.

• Choose additional coverage for particularly valuable items. Certain items, like engagement rings, may require additional coverage not offered by standard policies. For example, a standard renter's insurance policy may not cover expensive jewelry. But losing an item like an engagement ring to theft or a natural disaster can be emotionally devastating and costly to replace. Such a blow is easier to manage when policy holders know the items are fully covered.

Insurance is necessary whether individuals are looking to protect their health, their homes, their cars, or their financial futures. A few simple strategies can ensure consumers have the coverage they need to avoid financial ruin should they experience an accident, injury or natural disaster.
