In the farming profession, a common denominator in realizing financial goals is almost always crop yield. In today's agricultural environment, assurance that yield expectations can be met consistently is essential. Agricultural Services, Inc. develops "Hi-Yield" fertility programs, that are specific to individual fields, and then sees those programs through to harvest.

FAMILIES WANTED FOR The NE Aksarben Family Farm Award

The NE Aksarben Family Farm Award recognizes farm families in Nebraska whose land has been owned by the same family for 100 years (Pioneer Award) or 150 years (Heritage Award). This program honors the perseverance and fortitude of these families, who have maintained ownership of their land for a century or more. Each family may receive one award at a time, allowing them to apply for either the 100-year or 150-year award.

The two requirements to qualify for an award are as follows: The farm must have been owned by the same family for 100 years (Pioneer Award) or 150 years (Heritage Award), and there must be a minimum of 40 acres that continues to operate as a farm or ranch.

Application deadline is April 15th.

NATIONAL CAR CARE MONTH

Keeping vehicle interiors clean and tidy is easily overlooked, but these efforts can Drastically Improve the driving experience.

- Vacuum the interior. Start off with a can of compressed air for dust that has accumulated in tight crevices. Then move on to vacuum use.
- Scrub floor mats. Rubber mats can be easily removed, and with a small brush and mild cleaning solution, they will shine like new in no time.
- Clean the upholstery. For cloth vehicle seats, use a proper spray or foam upholstery cleaner. All-purpose cleaner can work on vinyl seats.
- Wipe glass surfaces. Continuously maintain windshields, windows & mirrors. You can use a store-bought glass cleaner on these surfaces.
- Consider lingering odors. If your vehicle has an odor, the cabin filter may need to be changed, or there may be water entering the vehicle.
- Thorough cleaning once a month can keep interiors fresh and clean. Keeping up with maintenance by doing small jobs regularly makes the process easy and rewarding for you and your passengers.

THE MOST MEMORABLE ROAD TRIPS ARE OFTEN THE BYPRODUCT OF AMPLE PLANNING.

Careful examinations of maps months before a trip begins can help vacationers find the best sights to see and uncover must-visit restaurants. In fact, many people find pre-trip planning nearly as enjoyable as the trip itself. Vacationers who planned road trips months ago likely did not think they would be forced to contend with extraordinarily high gas prices, but that's precisely the position drivers find themselves in this summer. The average gas price in many parts of North America exceeded $5 U.S. dollars per gallon by early June, and economic forecasters predicted prices could climb even higher as June gives way to the summer travel season.

High gas prices likely won't compel most vacationers to cancel their travel plans this summer. And those who are staying the course can rest easy knowing there are plenty of ways for them to cut costs and still enjoy a memorable summer road trip in the months ahead. ¥ Book a vehicle maintenance appointment. Prior to heading for parts unknown, visit your local auto body shop and have your car or truck serviced. The U.S. Department of Energy notes that regular engine tune-ups to ensure a vehicle is running efficiently increases fuel economy by an average of 4 percent. Schedule an oil change and tune-up shortly before your departure date so your car won't be forced to work extra hard, and thus consume extra fuel, during your trip.

¥ Reconsider your ride. Vacationers with more than one car to choose from may want to reconsider which car they drive on their road trip this summer. For example, families with one SUV and one sedan may save money by driving the sedan instead of the SUV, which is likely less fuel-efficient than the smaller vehicle. In addition, consider the type of fuel each of your cars requires and let that inform your decision. For instance, certain vehicles require more expensive high-octane fuel. If you own a car that requires the more budget-friendly regular 87 octane fuel, take that one on the road with you this summer.

¥ Look to save on lodging. Roadside motels have undergone something a rebirth in recent years. Many motels have been given full makeovers but remain budget-friendly lodging options for road trippers. Motels won't offer all the amenities of five-star hotels, but they're affordable places for vacationers to lay their heads for a night before traveling on to the next adventure the following morning.

¥ Take your foot off the gas. Another way to conserve fuel during a summer road trip is to resist the temptation to drive too fast. Avoiding excessive speeds isn't just safer; it's also more fuel-efficient. The Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy reports that fuel economy for a light-duty vehicle traveling at 80 miles per hour is about 27 percent lower than when traveling at 60 miles per hour.

Vacationers may be worried that high fuel costs will bust their budgets during road trips this summer. But there are various ways to cut costs and still enjoy memorable trips, even when fuel prices are especially high.
