Stephanie's Bio

Stephanie is a small business owner who has spent nearly 30 years as a fundraising consultant advising and problem solving for nonprofit organizations. She has first-hand experience with the working poor, homeless, disadvantaged students, and many others left behind when government does not work to strengthen all its members. A natural leader and consensus builder, Stephanie is prepared to be a champion for everyone to build a stronger, fiscally solvent, and more equitable Connecticut.

After the 2016 Presidential election, Stephanie downsized her business to get more involved locally. As your state representative, Stephanie will be proactive and fight for legislation to protect voting rights, gun safety, a woman's right to choose, and affordable college. She has been endorsed by Moms Demand Action, the Working Families, and NARAL.

Stephanie is no stranger to hard work. Growing up poor in New Jersey, she supported her family and worked to put herself through NYU and has a Masters in Nonprofit Management. Stephanie lives with her husband Greg in Norwalk and is a member of the Democratic Town Committee.
