

Paper: The Abandonment of Morality, Integrity & Ethical Standards

Date: 12 Feb. 2023

Topic: One of the biggest quandaries may be in obtaining the answer to the question, “However was it possible to get a man or woman to cause distinct harm to another man or woman?” Many men and/or women who are imposing their wills to cause this distinct harm on others, we know now, are “Just Doing Their Job”! The return to reviving our own morality, integrity and ethical base, may be more difficult in just the realization of this situation, as it is. The reason for the difficulty in achieving this comes from the realization that this was a programmed psyop, from the start. This paper illuminates these details.

Introduction

It may be possible to assert that there are few walking amongst us who have not compromised our integrity, at some point, in our lives. This very statement has benefits beyond the scope of this paper, such as the application of forgiveness (with or without compensation). But it is bringing the actual realization of the continued practice of compromising ethical behaviour that is under consideration now.

So, the topic of this paper deals with the question noted - ““However was it possible to get a man or woman to cause distinct harm to another man or woman?” As always, we are not looking for ‘symptomatic relief’ on this one. The very provision of symptomatic relief as a cure, is one of the main psyops that has been used to keep humanity in a perpetual state of confusion... searching for demons that simply do not exist. The considerations in fully answering the question then is the content of this paper, as follows.

Seek the Root – (not the symptom)

The information regarding the superstructure of how our society is being controlled, has been revealed, during the past 35 months. This is a significant, if not THE significant step, in the awakening process for humanity. It is the specific details of what we understand to be the globalist elite that gives us a better clarity of how we have been driven to essentially ‘self-annihilate’ ourselves. While the topic of this paper is not to identify just who is behind this control, it suffices for now to know some of the ‘vehicles’ used to accomplish this global control system:

- WEF, WHO, UN, All Governments
- total control of daily amenities – Blackrock, Vanguard, etc.
- minions marching to a ‘drum’ – Gates, Schwab, Soros, Fauci, etc.
- FBI, CIA (Kennedy Assn.), FDA, EPA, etc.

Honestly speaking, I personally am not interested in those who are in control or their minions because the total solution to this planetary confusion completely lay with the return to ethics, morality & integrity, of the masses. These are the tools and they are enforced by the Power of Love, mercy, compassion & tolerance. This is the only realization that is required to deal with the ROOT, thereby eliminating all symptoms. i.e. we need not even dig up the root, but rather take our attention away from it and let it die and rot in the ground, where all falsehood belongs.

Understanding the Process (... of Control)

Understanding the almost infinite intricacies of globalist control becomes difficult when it has been formulated over centuries, while we have only been aware of its presence, intently for 3 years(!) Additionally, anyone who thinks that they will find all the details of the reach and depth of this control structure, would be dreaming.

But, there are indicators of this control process that are available to us, and in that regard, maybe all we need to know to process accordingly. These indicators/details are given to us the same way that other pertinent details of this globalist hoax have been revealed to us – kindly & integrous folks who exist now or have historically existed and laboured for our benefit, regardless of how much fame, money or success came from their efforts. These folks had a greater calling that was driven by one factor – the need to know & discover the Truth! This is a pertinent detail, because it is the critical component of the globalist over control regime and how they have succeeded in taking over the minds of the masses. Essentially, selling falsehood and suppressing Truth is an expensive game – it takes lots of money to produce lots of infrastructure and/or equipment. This is because falsehood is NOT self-supporting – it must be propagated by well paid men & women or it would naturally disintegrate into nothingness, which is what it is. Simple Truths, like surveys, would overturn much of the falsehood, but the level of control and suppression govern such practices.

What We Do Know

Many courageous men & women have come before us, some of whom are listed in the references. The details and results of propagandized mind control as a program is defined as “mass psychosis” which is the flagship process of “totalitarianism”.

Many of these details are rapidly emerging now and stand firmly as an integral component of the awakening of humanity. Entering the ‘Accelerated Truth-Emergence’ phase is upon us (ref. 6).

Regarding the biting question presented in the topic of this paper – it is mostly, if not fully addressed by one of the men who, as a psychologist, has illustrated the phenomenon/answer. His name is Joost Meerloo and I will not attempt to discredit his already perfect explanation of, “How it is that a man or woman can be led to cause harm or loss to another man or woman”. (see attached)

Conclusion

The conclusion consists of 2 parts:

1) What this paper/understanding means for those who wish to continue to cause harm and/or loss:

The understanding of just what the effects of the globalist agenda (including the now known ‘eugenics’ program) are, and how that process trickles down to specific ‘job definitions’, makes having one of these jobs, currently, precarious, at best. In the near future, this precariousness will transform and become dangerous. This is not to be considered as a threat to those who continue to deny their integrity/morals/ethical standing (IME). But it may serve to be a warning or otherwise encouragement to possibly consider the big picture and move to a position of Truth, like some of their colleagues.

2) What this paper/understanding means for those who have returned to IME and/or never bought into the hoax in the first place:

IME, with the backing of Love, mercy, tolerance & compassion are the devices to remove all insecurities, when for example one finds themselves in the distinct position of having abandoned a 3 decade long career (no small feat) by moving to Truth. Full commendation goes to those who have already done this and there will be millions more to follow.

As the blatant & audacious representation of evil comes to the public forefront, most recently (the Grammy's presentation; 'after school Satan clubs' in California; the Superbowl halftime show*; etc.), it is important to realize that:

- a) this is a futile attempt to bring forth the will of a mere individual (Satan or Lucifer), which is indicative of the remaining days of falsehood on planet Earth, because of...
- b) the full awakening of humanity - as many begin to realize that the foundational beliefs of their chosen 'professions' are actually letting them down. (see *)

* Clearly presented in the 2023 Rhianna Superbowl show are the attempts to reinforce the programming of falsehood to the folks watching, all the while the bottom is falling out of the paradigm.

Education for Discipline or Higher Morale

The Role of Education

The child's formative years are spent under the guidance of first parents and then teachers; jointly they influence his future behavior. The educational system can either reinforce or correct parental errors and attitudes, either strengthen the child's desire to grow toward freedom and maturity or stifle his need to develop and twist it into the need to resign himself to permanent childishness and dependence.

Since the Renaissance, the ideal of universal scholastic training has made steady gains. But today we unwittingly tend to mold minds into a prefabricated pattern and to give our students the illusion that they know or have to know all the answers. The fallacy of such half-education is that the so-called alphabets—in contrast to those who cannot read—may become better followers and worse thinkers. The totalitarians, for example, are not against schools; on the contrary, for the more you overburden the mind with facts, the more passive it may become. Intellectual erudition and booklearning alone do not make strong personalities, and in our passion for factual education and the quiz type of examination there lies hidden a form of mental pressure. The awe with which we regard the accumulation of school facts may inhibit the mind so that it cannot think for itself. We must become more aware of the involuntary pressures an educational system can impose on us, and their possibly dangerous effects on the future of our democratic society. The actual strategy of keeping people as permanent students under prolonged supervision is a help to totalitarian indoctrination. For instance, somewhere along the line in some administrative minds, there sprang up the idea that repeated, comparative examinations would increase the quality of the corps of administrators. Instead, infantile anxieties developed related to the fear of this infantile tool of measurement and evaluation: the examination. There is now hardly any administrator who dares to look at reality as the best test of human capacity and human endurance.

The form of education which sets a premium on dependency, which overcontrols the child, which makes a moral appeal through punishment and provoking a sense of guilt, which overrates mechanical skills and automatic learning, this form of education kneads the brain into a pattern of conformity which can easily be turned into totalitarian channels. This is even more the case in regard to the disciplinary training of soldiers. Such rigid education glorifies good behavior far too much; imitation and conformity are approved at the expense of spontaneous creativity, thinking for oneself, and the free expression and discussion of dissenting ideas. Our examination mania forces students into mental pathways of automatic thinking. Our intellectual and so-called objective education overrates rationalism and technical know-how under the delusion that this will keep emotional errors under control. What it does instead, of course, is to train children into automatic patterns of thinking and acting, which are closer to the pattern of conditioned reflexes, of which Pavlovian students are so fond, than they are to the free, exploratory, creative pattern toward which democratic education should be oriented.

Totalitarianism is well aware that youth has a sensitive period during which Pavlovian conditioning may be established without difficulty. Early teachings form nearly indestructible patterns in the child's mind and eventually replace innate instinctual precision. This early Pavlovian automatization of life may itself develop almost the force of an innate instinct. Indeed this is precisely what
