Photographer & Custom Framer, Beverly Patchin, Featured by The Gallery at Lake Saint Lawrence Arts

Photographer & Custom Framer, Beverly Patchin, will be featured by The Gallery at Lake Saint Lawrence Arts at 14 Main Street in Waddington, NY. during April. Her exhibit “Photo Journey – New England to Alaska” runs from April 4 through April 27, 2024, on Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays from 11:00am to 3:00pm. On April 5 and April 20, she will be available for discussion of her techniques during those times.

As a child, Beverly was always taking photos. During most of her working years, however, she was an accountant and mother to 4 children. In later years she was able to take some photography courses as well as internet courses. After she retired, and while in Florida in 2007, she found out that the Professional Photographers of America were having their convention in Tampa, so she went.

That started her career in photography.

She began her business (Bluebird Gallery) in 2008. She started out taking professional portraits of people and pets in Florida during the winter. While in New York in the summers and falls, she concentrated on portrait sessions of high school seniors, children, and pets. She now has drifted away from the portrait sessions because she enjoys finding and taking nature photos of things other people might not notice. She says she gets a “natural high” from taking a good photo of something as common as a mushroom or as spectacular as a summer sunset.

Beverly is a core member of The Gallery at Lake Saint Lawrence Arts in Waddington, and is the newspaper advertising person there. She exhibits framed and matted photos as well as cards and gift items at the Gallery. She is also a member of the Massena Art Association in Massena, NY; the Thousand Islands Art Center in Clayton, NY; Frederick Remington Art Gallery in Ogdensburg, NY; and the St. Lawrence Art Council in Potsdam, NY. She exhibits in all these art centers when their juried shows are announced and has won various prizes in them.

She also has other outlets for her work including Singer Castle in the Thousand Islands, Pickens General Store in Heuvelton, TAUNY in Canton, and the St. Lawrence Art Council in Potsdam.

Beverly took up custom framing as a necessary activity associated with her photography. Now she does it professionally as well and has been doing it for about three years. She works from the Gallery in Waddington and accepts referrals from TAUNY in Canton and the St. Lawrence Art Council as well as word-of-mouth and personal contacts.

Beverly can frame all kinds of artwork including photos, pen & ink, canvas, watercolor, pastels and colored pencil, tapestries and needlework and can also attach jerseys, tee shirts, etc. in shadowboxes. She works with the customer on the color of mat and frame that brings out the special details of their art. A collection of frame and mat samples is available at The Gallery to pick from; or she will search her computer for just the right combination to make the art look its best.

Beverly is adamant about precision in the quality of all her work. She backs every frame order with her personal guarantee of correction if anything should not be to a customer's specifications. She says she loves to see the kinds of artwork that customers do and is always anxious to see the finished product after her work is finished.
