PNM
PERSONALITY
SLIDE
EXAMPLES!!!

includes our VPRO's slide from when she was a PNM and examples made by the recruitment chairs

SIENA WELSH

Tell us what you value, stand for, and/or are passionate about.

I am passionate about many topics. One of my main passions is volunteering at Mobile Loaves and Fishes (MLF). I have volunteered for this organization for 8 years. One of my favorite parts about volunteering at MLF is how each role works together to create meals for the Austin community. MLF also has a location called Community First where groups, such as my church, donate and volunteer to build micro-homes for the homeless to move into. Within this community MLF creates job opportunities in order to assist its residents in empowering their own lives. During my time volunteering at MLF Community First, I was able to interact with one of the most caring and supportive communities. Every person living there simply wanted to help each other succeed, which is the type of community that I hope to find through sorority life. These experiences have given me a desire to support people out of chronic homelessness through a more holistic approach, because every individual person matters, whether they are in need of support or within the chain of volunteers. In college, I want to continue to support this mission. I hope to join the Food Recovery Network and give back to the Fort Worth community.

Which three qualities do you look for in a friend and which three qualities would your friends list to describe you?

The three most important qualities I look for in a friend are a fun presence, loyalty, and the ability to be understanding. I love to be around those that help me to enjoy the moment and find the humor in life. Loyalty is something that means a lot to me because I believe that it can make all the difference in the way that one perceives themself. An understanding friend is a blessing, because they allow me to feel heard. Even if they don't know the answers, making the effort to comprehend how I am feeling makes me feel immensely better. My friends would describe me first as welcoming because I try my hardest to ensure that everyone feels included. Secondly, my friends would describe me as caring because I always aim to be supportive to those around me. Lastly, my friends would describe me as loyal because I will always stand by the people that mean the most to me.

Lia DeMelis

What are you looking to gain from your college experience at TCU?

From my experience at TCU I am looking forward to gaining more experience in the medical field and working towards my passion of helping people. I am also excited to grow as a person and learn new things about myself as I move to a new state for the first time and meet new people. I hope that joining a sorority will give me a support system to help me grow and branch out to get involved in leadership and service opportunities.

Which three qualities do you look for in a friend and which three qualities would your friends list to describe you?

Three qualities that I look for in a friend are honesty, dependable, and compassionate. I value these qualities in a friend because I think it is extremely important to be able to trust your friends and know that they will always tell you the truth and will be there for you. Three qualities that my friends would list to describe me are loyal, trustworthy, and kind because my friends know that I will always be there for them whenever they need me and I am someone they can come to no matter what the situation.

1. What are you looking to gain from your college experience at TCU?

From my college experience at TCU I hope to gain meaningful relationships both outside and inside the classroom. For me, this means finding lifelong friendships and utilizing my resources in order to set me up for success. I want to feel comfortable and be surrounded by a community that feels like a second home especially because I am coming from out of state!

2. Tell us what you value, stand for, and/or are passionate about.

I hold value in being a compassionate and hardworking indivual. I am passionate about helping others who surrond me in order to grow and create a community. I believe being the best version of yourself starts with being compassionate and putting in work to always continue improving myself as well as others.

Annie Hoffmeister

Riley Richard

I value friendships that are rooted in unconditional love, the type of love that means being a champion in her absence. I believe we are all capable of not only giving this type of love, but receiving it as well, and I feel so incredibly blessed to have had both!

In a friend, I look for compassion, dependability, and someone who will push me to be my best self. I believe my friends would describe me as motivated, lively, and kind-hearted!

ANNALISE GADBOIS

1. What are you looking to gain from your college experience at TCU

During my time at TCU I hope to create lasting and meaningful friendship as well as grow into myself and the values I hold. I hope TCU will be a place for me to learn from my mistakes, create impactful memories, and expand my knowledge. I believe being apart of a Panhellenic sorority will help fuel these experience I hope to have. Having a strong group of women to confide in and help build each other to our personal goals while also making a greater impact in my community.

2. Which three qualities do you look for in a friends and whihe three qualities would your friends list to describe you

The three qualities that I look for and value in a friend include loyalty, genuineness and intentionality. I value long lasting friendships with girls that I know will always be by my side, make me laugh when I am down, and be their true selves. My friends would describe me as dependable, honest, and humorous. I strive to be someone who is there for my friends when they need me, be honest with them and myself, and put a smile on my friends faces:) Having friends with these values create a strong meaningful relationship for me.

3 qualities I look for in a friend and 3 qualities my friends would list to describe me:

Three qualities I look for in a friend are intentionality, supportiveness, and adventurous. Three qualities my friends would use to describe me are devoted, genuine, and spontaneous. I love making authentic connections with my friends and am always down for a last minute activity!

I am looking to make life long friends and memories at TCU! I have heard from many that "college is the best four years of your life", so I plan to soak up every second of my four years at TCU. In Greek Life, I hope to find my sisters in a Panhellenic sorority and also grow my love for service and leadership. Lastly, I hope to grow as a student, while pursuing my degree in Speech Pathology.

PAYTON SHELLY

VP Membership Kappa Kappa Gamma

In a friend, I always strive to look for a sense of loyalty, humor, and kindness. I love to laugh, be silly, and have fun with my friends no matter the environment - whether we're laying on the couch, at a football game, studying, or going to sisterhood events, I look for friends that can have fun and make the most out of any circumstance! My friends would describe me as generous, sociable, and adventurous.

As a Nursing major, I am passionate about helping and caring for others. You never know what someone is going through, and you should always treat others with kindness. I always strive to make a positive impact on others and give effective and compassionate care to others.

Peyton Carbonara

Which three qualities do you look for in a friend and which three qualities would your friends list to describe you?

I look to be friends with people who are supportive, honest, and intentional. These qualities are important to me because they are the foundation of a healthy friendship. My friends would describe me as genuine, light-hearted, and dependable. I always find a way to make others happier and I am someone my friends can count on no matter the situation.

What are you looking to gain from your college experience at TCU?

I came to TCU looking for a strong sense of community and a home away from home, and I have found just that. So far, TCU has exceeded my expectations and given me a second family. This community has a strong sense of belonging and so much love for one another, which is all I could've ever asked for coming into college.

Delaney Fritz

During my time at TCU and in a Panhellenic sorority, I am hoping to gain a community of lifelong friends and a support system that I can lean on. I am so excited to see all of the amazing things that TCU has to offer and get involved on campus!

Tell us what you value, stand for, and/or are passionate about.

One of my main values is being your true and authentic self. I think that every good friendship stems from the ability to be comfortable being your true self.

Ensley Ingebrigtsen Ensley Lingebrigtsen

What are you looking to gain from you college experience?

I want to challenge myself in my academics, and reach the goals I have dreamed about since I was a young girl. I hope to find my lifelong friends, step out of my comfort zone, and learn about myself along the way!

> Which three qualities do you look for in a friend, and which three qualities would your friends list to describe you?

In a friend, I look for someone who is loyal, supportive, and authentic. I think my friends would describe me as intentional, dependable, and caring!

Mackenzie Gill

2. Tell us what you value, stand for, and/or are passionate about.

I am passionate about treating others how you would want to be treated. You never know what someone is going through so its important to always show love and

