Moments That Matter

When I recently sorted through a thousand 35mm slides that documented decades of family memories, one picture stood out to me the most. It wasn't from a special vacation or holiday or family celebration; it was an image of my mom, sitting on "her rock" in the St. Lawrence River. She was 8 years old.

Showing this picture to my mom inspired her to share stories about growing up – her fond memories, her challenges, her wishes for the future, and her hopes for her own family, one day. This is her legacy.

The importance of building your legacy, which we define as 'the collection of life's moments that matter most,' has never been more profound to me.

Reliving and sharing these moments means learning about where you came from and who you've become. To start and continue building a legacy so rich, and filled with love, is my hope for all of Legacy Republic's team of employees and Legacy Makers, and our customers.

Our mission comes to life in partnership with entrepreneurial-minded people who possess an extraordinary passion and commitment for inspiring the celebration of family memories.

We believe this mission, at this time, is rather important and have named them for the key role that they perform. They are Legacy Makers. Together with our Legacy Makers we are building something that is truly unique.
