

Behind The Olive Trees

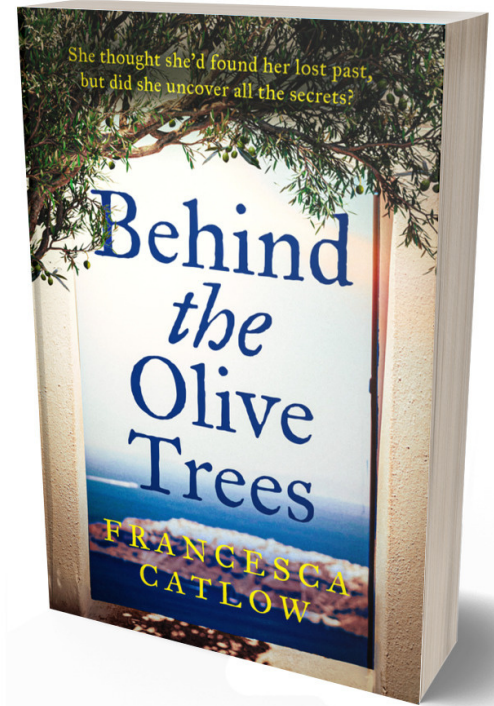

Francesca Catlow

She thought she'd found her lost past, but did she uncover all the secrets?

Melodie returns to her mother's house in Corfu for the first time since inheriting it. Only, she discovers it isn't empty. She finds someone has been living there; a girl who claims the property is hers.

Behind The Olive Trees is the second book in the Little Blue Door series, and is set in 2022 within the context of the pandemic. The novel is a continuation of Melodie's journey to finding herself and finding out about her past, but has also been adored by readers new to Catlow's work.

This is women's fiction at its best, with a unique balance of romance, family saga and mystery-thriller all rolled into the real-world-escapism of the UK's favourite Greek island, Corfu.

"fresh, light, well-paced, the characters realistic, and with an ending I thoroughly approve of."

"Catlow has a way of creating her own version of freedom, in her life and in her stories."

Francesca Catlow is a mother of two young children and a carer to her husband, she has created her own publishing brand to produce novels her own way and to create her own work-life freedom. Born and raised in the heart of Suffolk, Catlow has travelled extensively in Europe with her French husband and, more recently, their two children. Of all the places she's been, it is the Greek islands that have captured her heart.
