LOOKING BACKWARD

EDWARD BELLAMY

In this utopian science fiction novel
(1888):

“People stop working at age forty-five and devote their lives to mentoring other people and engaging in volunteer work that benefits the overall community. There are short work weeks for employees, and everyone receives full benefits, food, and housing.

“In conjunction with periodic work stints, they have time to pursue new skills and personal identities that are independent of their jobs.”

- Darrell West
