Connection to Fashion

Many people enjoy expressing their everyday style through their own home. A space that reflects a person's personal style in the home, often translates to the sense of style that they wear on an everyday basis.

Why?

Looking at 2015 trends, there were many patterns and bright colors. We think this will repeat and people will be wearing these bold patterns again but to a lesser degree such as an accent or accessory, rather than the entire garment printed with that pattern.
