MAY RUN:

Organised by Jeff & Cathie Trevan, written by Your Correspondent, photos by Robert Pritchard

Well, all the usual suspects rolled up at our usual spot to see what Jeff & Cathie had in store for us on our way to what was to turn out to be a fantastic destination, – but I'm getting ahead of myself.

Jeff handed out some very detailed instructions that a quick glance showed a very interesting route to our morning tea stop. Heading up through Elimbah and Beerburum then along Old Gympie Road to Landsborough. What followed was a picturesque jaunt along Tunnel Ridge Rd, through the Mooloolah Valley to Martin Rungert Park our morning tea stop.

Suitably refreshed and de-watered we took off back along Bray Rd to run alongside the railway line before ducking under the bridge to get on to Eudlo Rd. After going past the State School and Eudlo station we found ourselves (well, those that followed the directions did) on the Palmwoods -Mooloolah Rd which finally took us via Chevallum Rd through Palmwoods, and then to Jubilee Drive, past Briggs and Jubilee Park and onto Old Palmwoods Rd...Phew!

Onward we went through Woomby Township to meet up with the Nambour Connection Rd, which, after about 3 km took us to Dame Edna's favourite destination...Lamington Terrace. Currie Street beckoned, so we took that and it became Coronation Ave (Coronation Street was one of my favourite UK TV shows – but I digress). Guess what? We found we were back onto the Nambour Connection Rd ...why we had to go through all those streets to stay on the same road I dunno. Maybe the council thought it would be interesting to call it different names along the way. After all "Nambour Connection Road" is a pretty ordinary name – doesn't have any pizzazz!

Howsomever, undaunted by all these shenanigans, we strove valiantly to our destination, through Parklands (the town – not a descriptor)' another name change, Farrell Street, and who was (is) Ben Williams? He got a bit of the infamous "Nambour Connection Rd named after him, so he musta been somebody famous! Then, after Bridges (not river crossings dummies – a town) we hit Bunya Rd and at Eerwah Vale took the Eumundi Kenilworth Rd for a relaxing 10 kilometres or so.

We had a feeling we were getting close and at Skyrings Creek Rd we by-passed Ridgewood, and at Tuchekoi we got onto the Old Bruce Highway as far as Woondum Rd and there was our destination, Hell Town Hot Rods – and it was a "Hell"uva great drive!

The food at the pub was terrific, a cold drink went down a treat, we had a raffle (your correspondent won a prize, so did Phil) and after a good chinwag it was time to head home. I got wet, lost the notes on who else won prizes – they turned into papier-mache in the open cockpit of the MG. I finally gave in and put the top up, a not inconsiderable task I might add, but saved me from another dose of the 'flu.

Many thanks to Jeff & Cathie Trevan for a really interesting excursion to a great place throughs some interesting roads.

JUNE RUN: Strawberry farm, 16/06/19

Organised by Alex Gallacher, written by Matt Sinagra, photos by Matt Sinagra

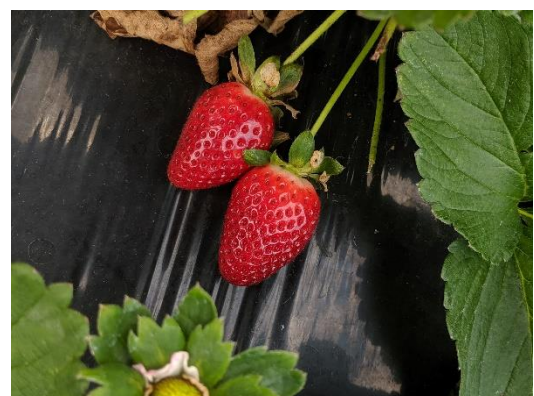

With forecasts predicting gloomy and rainy weather we were expecting a small turn out, but we were pleasantly surprised with a good turnout. The first stop was at Maddock Wetlands, a beautiful spot with lots of walking and mountain bike trails, but we were more focused on the coffee van.

Once we were all fuelled up we headed off to our final destination for the day, Strawberry Fields.

The drive took us through the back roads of Mooloolah Valley and a very brief (but safe!) U-turn at the Eudlo General Store. It was very enjoyable to see Vanessa and Kim barrelling down the road in the big F truck. When we arrived at Strawberry Fields, it appeared that Greg and Yvonne had reserved a whole field for us to park up in.

The location seemed to be a very popular spot with many families there, but there was plenty of room for us to setup and thankfully not too close to the restaurant because the food smelled amazing. Once we had eaten our way through lunch it was time to get to the hard work of picking strawberries and eating ice cream. The weather had cleared up and warmed up the cooler winter's day.

Thanks to Greg and Yvonne for putting on an excellent run! We were eating strawberries for the rest of the week 😊
