Bobby Halton
Editor-in-Chief, Fire Engineering

"It's much more impressive in real life than it is in video. From a functional standpoint, it's phenomenal. I can't think of any excuses not to have an Affordable Drill Tower, it's a great product. I think this is a fantastic opportunity for organizations to get an opportunity to do realistic training at an incredibly good value, an amazingly good value! Get the Tower!"

Robert Logan
Assistant Fire Chief, Spring (TX) Fire Dept.

"I want to reiterate the fact that a lot of chiefs and a lot of administrators get worried about spending money, and it's not going to be used, we're going to buy something and it's just going to sit back there; we knew it was going to be used a lot, but it exceeded my expectations of how much it's used. They're on it every day. They train hard every day."

Michael Dugan
Captain, L-123, FDNY (ret.)

"I think the Drill Tower is a great training prop; it's really very, very, very dynamic and you can do with it what you want, because it's such a great prop; your imagination is your only limitation. I can see this being used for any type of Department, any size, large, small, urban, suburban, rural."

Ray McCormack
Lieutenant, E-69, FDNY

"We did a standpipe stretch, and it was great because the system can take actual standpipe pressures. We were able to use the staircases to replicate real staircases that are in buildings. The sense of realism is great. I think it's a wonderful opportunity for fire fighters. I'm really blown away by it, I think it's great!"
