To our distinguished customers,

Since the start of 2024, major challenges have emerged for all sectors. The food industry has not been spared. The increase in labor costs, prices of raw materials, as well as transport costs (to name just a few) have continued to increase and have reached heights that we could never have imagined.

With the current market, it is very difficult to maintain our production costs. We are experiencing price increases from all sides and unfortunately, this forces us to make a new price increase which will be in effect starting December 16th, 2024.

We thank you for your usual collaboration and take this opportunity to express our gratitude for your loyalty.

Please accept, Sir, the expression of our best feelings.
