

PERSONAL PRAYER FOR OVERLOOKING OFFENSES

Gracious and Eternal Father

Offenses have been an issue for me for a long time. I have allowed good intentions, bad intentions, and intentions that were never meant for my harm to take control of my emotions. I have allowed the enemy to convince of things far away from what people meant in their conversations with me. I have essentially given the enemy and others complete domination and direction of my emotions.

But, Lord God, Your servant Paul declared in 1 Corinthians 6:12, “I have the right to do anything – but I will not be mastered by anything.” Here on this day, I pray this declaration in the face of my offenses, in the face of my trauma, and in the face of the enemy. I pray that I will no longer be dominated and controlled by the things that have once ensnared me. Christ has given me authority over demonic spirits, and offenses are included in that. Today, I pray repossession of my authority stolen from me by spirits of offense and misunderstanding. Proverbs 19:11 testifies that “it is one’s glory to overlook an offense.” Today, God, I pray repossession of the glory stolen from me by spirits of offense and misunderstanding.

I pray healing today. I pray for grace today. I pray for revelation today. And I pray for Your Presence today. I pray that others will begin to see You through me in my new responses to offenses. I pray that offenses, from this day forward, will be below me below the glory that You have restored to me. It is in these things that I believe. It is in these things that I declare. It is in these things that I pray.

In the strong and mighty name of Jesus,

Amen.
