About Me

From my earliest memories, the allure of entertainment has captivated my imagination. My journey began during my high school years, when I immersed myself in the intricate dance of technical theater, eagerly exploring every facet within my reach. Upon entering college, my passion found its true home in the realms of technical direction, stage management, and set construction. Yet, despite my specialized focus, I remained an eager and voracious learner, drawn to absorb knowledge from every corner of the entertainment spectrum. As I transition into my professional career, my ultimate aspiration is to be integral in creating unforgettable experiences that resonate deeply with the audience.
