

Do You Remember

Photographs lie within the pages
Of faded memories
Faces are worn though not replaced with Modern day vanity

Some days we'd hide, some days we'd lie
Most days we'd walk the line
Do you remember when
You remembered me?

Hello my friend, where have you been?
So happy to see you now
Its been too long to have you gone
So hard to live without you

Your shadow remains a painful portrait, painted on everything
Never to fade though once distorted
Has found a new meaning

Some days we'd hide, some days we'd shine
Most days we'd walk the line
Do you remember when
You remembered me?

Hello my friend, where have you been?
So happy to see you now
It's been too long to have you gone
So hard to live without you

Now you're here, without fear, commandeering what was yours

Hello my friend, where have you been?
So happy to see you now
It's been too long to have you gone
So hard to live without you
