

Stray

Candle light through the bitter night
Leads me home

To see your face, a long embrace
I won't let go

Until the memories replace
The comfort of the day
As I begin to stray
And go away

Take my hand, try to make a stand
And keep me here

Still I slip from your loving grip
And swim in your tears ... and my fears

Until the memories replace
The comfort of the day
As I begin to stray...

And I won't let it go
This feeling that I've known
Which holds the truth
That lies in you

When the world lets down... When the world lets you down.

And I won't let it go
This feeling that I've known
Which holds the truth
That lies in you