An audit of where you are now and an understanding of what makes you tick

One element we look at is your personal values. These are unique to everyone and are deeply important to us and our sense of the world.

If our behaviour is misaligned with our values, we generally feel lethargic, purposeless, depressed, frustrated and even angry. We also experience uncomfortable or negative feelings if our values are quashed by external situations or people.

When we live in accordance with our values, our external actions and behaviours match the internal qualities that are important to us. If our behaviour is consistent with our values, we generally feel contentment, satisfaction, 'flow', happiness and internal strength.

process of defining & creating ...

A fun process to really put you in the future mindset, to experience how it looks, sounds and feels

After reviewing where you are currently in all the areas of your life you identify - health, finance, career, relationships, balance, etc, we then start to focus on what improvements, if any, you would like to make in each area. This is the fun part where you can let your imagination go wild and dream big!

We take into account all aspects and check that your desire fits well with other important aspects of your life, for example, if your family and young children are currently a priority, going backpacking in the middle of nowhere for 6 months may sound amazing but probably isn't going to work in the short-term - although we could add it to your longer-term plan!

We also review any barriers or limiting beliefs that may previously have held you back.

Plan and action for your best life...

Where the magic starts to happen and tangible change occurs

When we move to this stage, together we will compile a plan so that you know and understand what areas you would really like to focus on - this will probably be in the short, medium and long-term.

We can begin to review where you want to put your energy and passion. It will also help you to prioritise the things that you want to move forward and help massively if you have been feeling 'stuck', unsure what to do next, or trying to do too many things and not moving any of them forward.

This usually results in 'effortless success' where you feel like you're in the zone and everything is going well, because you're in control and it feels good!

Sometimes, it's good to work backwards to see what we need to do to break tasks down into manageable chunks. We will always have measurable outputs to check you're on track and able to flex as life occurs around you.

SAM

Suzanne has already helped to change my view of myself and my life and I'm only two sessions into the programme. She is very professional but also fun and friendly. She listens, interprets, understands and helps guide you towards your own answers, making you feel more empowered.

Put simply, Suzanne has shone a light on the life I was finding eternally grey. The weight of work, personal issues, conflict in my mind....and so on, were making me lose sight of the person I know I truly am. Suzanne is an absolute tonic and a fantastic coach!

CLARE

When I was offered coaching, I considered a couple of potential coaches. I was clear that I wanted a coach who recognised that authenticity was important to me and to not try to mould me into someone I wasn't. Suzanne was the perfect fit for me - helping me accept who I was and how to recognise this to build my confidence. It wasn't always an easy process - Suzanne asked me some challenging questions and made me consider things I never had done before. But this better understanding has helped me to consider what I want - and don't want - from my professional life.

Lots of laughs, some tears, but more self-belief and an understanding of my values and purpose. I highly recommend Suzanne for personal and professional coaching - she is amazing!

NICOLE

Suzanne was the perfect coach for me, she opened up my eyes to things about myself I hadn't acknowledged before and as a result, helped me make some much needed changes in how I prioritised myself. Suzanne is very relatable and authentic, which is why I felt very comfortable sharing thoughts and feelings with her.

I genuinely believe our coaching sessions are partly responsible for my personal growth and success. I will be forever grateful and highly recommend her, she will make you think differently and hold you accountable for the changes you choose to make.
