PASTOR'S CORNER

A Family That Heaven and Earth Share

All Saints Day & All Souls Day

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

When we look back on our lives, we often remember someone whose faith helped shape our own: a grandmother who prayed faithfully, a father who quietly sacrificed for his children, an elder whose wisdom brought peace, or a friend who remained kind through suffering. Their love reminds us that holiness can take root in the ordinary moments of life.

On All Saints Day, November 1, the Church celebrates all those who share in God's glory in heaven—both the saints whose names we know and the countless others known to God. Their lives proclaim a beautiful truth: God calls each of us to become a saint.

Holiness begins wherever we allow God's love to guide our choices. It grows when we forgive someone who has hurt us, care for an aging parent, protect a child, speak honestly, or make room for someone who feels forgotten. The Beatitudes show us this path: mercy, purity of heart, peacemaking, and faithfulness even when doing what is right becomes difficult.

Here in our communities of Barona, Viejas, and Sycuan, we have many opportunities to walk that path together. Honoring our elders, strengthening our families, caring for the land entrusted to us, and passing faith to our children can become daily expressions of our love for the Creator. Through prayer and the sacraments, Christ strengthens us to live these responsibilities with generous hearts.

On All Souls Day, November 2, our attention turns especially to our beloved dead. We pray for all the faithful departed who are being purified and prepared for the fullness of heaven. We entrust them to God's mercy and offer our prayers, sacrifices, and especially the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass for them.

For many of us, this remembrance is deeply personal. There is an empty chair at the table, a familiar voice we long to hear, and a name that still brings tears. Faith makes room for that sorrow. Jesus himself wept at the tomb of his friend Lazarus. Yet through his Resurrection, he gives us hope that death does not have the final word.

All Saints Day reminds us of the glory God promises. All Souls Day reminds us to accompany our departed loved ones with prayer. Together, these celebrations reveal the communion of saints: one family in Christ, united across heaven and earth.

This week, let us name our departed loved ones in prayer. Let us tell our children about the goodness they shared. And let us honor their memory by living the faith we hope to pass on.

Yours in the Divine Word,
Fr. Herman Manuel, SVD
Pastor

PRAYER

Creator God,
make us holy through your love.
Welcome our departed loved ones
into your light and peace,
comfort all who grieve,
and guide us toward the joyful reunion
you promise in Christ. Amen.
