

Dear Reader,

On this website, you will find a compilation my past writing pieces. The site is organized by topic: a literacy narrative, 5 rhetorical challenges from Engl 220, and past journalism articles.

You can find them in their respective order by scrolling down. Attached are PDF documents with the option to download or flip through the pages directly on this website, as well as an external link to a website.

I attached the rhetorical challenges as a claim to my improvement over the course as an English major. For reference, I included the link to my journalism page from high school to show how much my writing style has changed in the past few years.

I hope you enjoy.

Sincerely,

Madi Rose