

If a for-profit transient house can open next door, what else is on the slippery slope?

Barnstable lets you buy a house and hand it over for profit one night at a time, so why not by the minute? Be a Recharge host and people will pay for a nap, a shower, or who knows what (it's probably fine).

Like Airbnb turns your house into a hotel, Sniffspot turns your yard into a dog park. Don't want poop? Go to HipCamp or Campspace. Tourists already pay to camp in a backyard overlooking the Wianno Club golf course, and Barnstable zoning hasn't said a peep! (We don't know where those campers poop.)

Get involved or get used to it.
