Helping Dads Lead with
Biblical Conviction, Honor, and Love

The Urgent Need For Men to Go Deeper

“In 2000, nearly three-quarters of Christians (74%) strongly agreed that faith was central to their lives. Today, that number sits closer to half (54%).”

The Father Factor

"Men, the reality is that our children are learning what we are living. They are following where we've been and are likely headed in the direction we are going. How we live each day will be our greatest life influencer for our sons and daughters."

—Joe Waresak

The Father Factor

One study found that kids who are close to their dads are:

- 80% less likely to go to jail.
- 2x as likely to enter college or find stable employment after high school
- 75% less likely to have a teen birth
- 1/2 as likely to experience depression symptoms.

The Father Factor

The research underscores the God-ordained calling of men to lead within their homes. Children, by design, are inclined to follow their fathers—especially in matters of faith. It also shows that the way men love and lead their wives will have one of the greatest lasting impacts on their children.

"Fathers, do not provoke your children to anger, but bring them up in the discipline and instruction of the Lord." — Ephesians 6:4

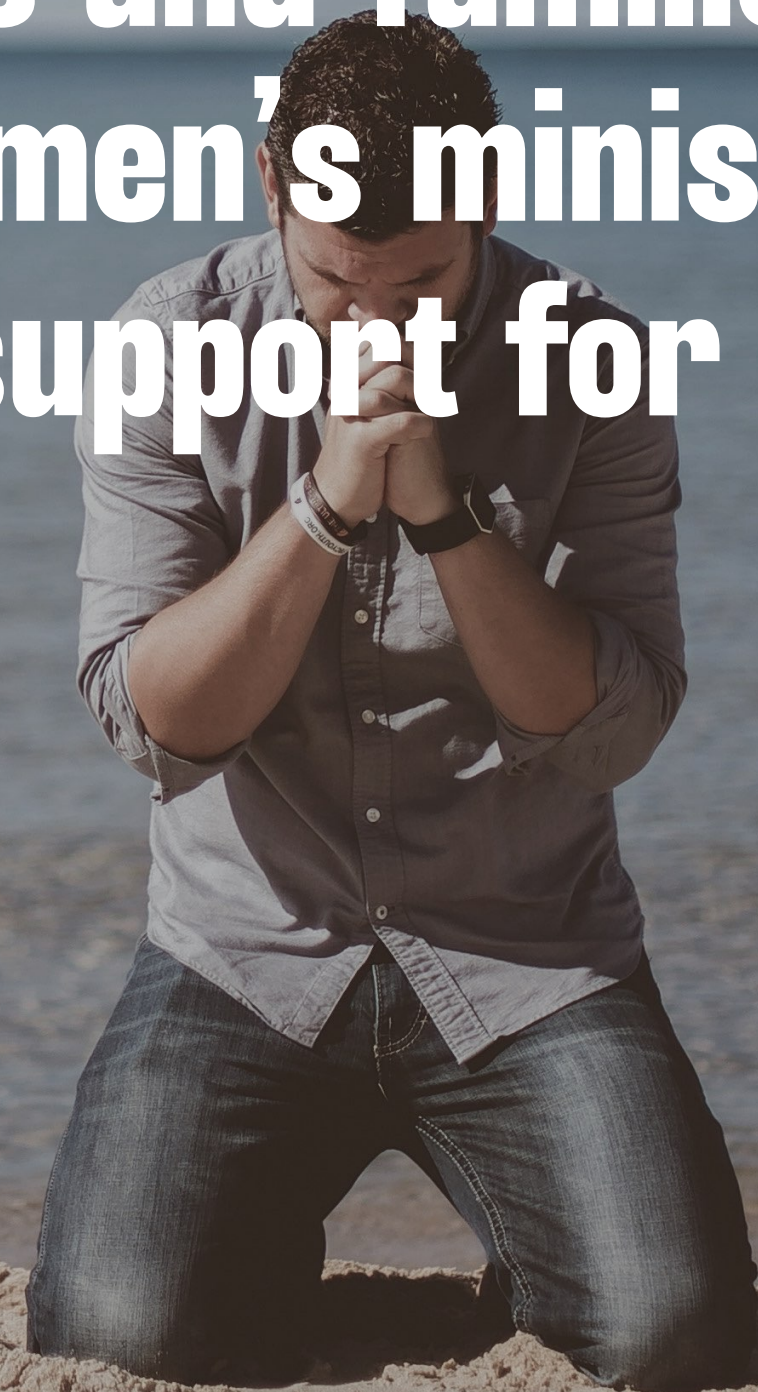

If this is True...

and the role of fathers is this significant—
Then the question becomes:
what are we doing differently to disciple men?
