

I'm not robot!

Import happy wheels levels ios

How to import happy wheels levels ios.  How to get custom levels on happy wheels ios.

Sorry, we couldn't find any video tips for this topic. Scan this QR code to download the app now Or check it out in the app stores Search results from other threads Irresponsible Dad's completed levels. The Happy Wheels Mobile App has a selection of pre-made levels for people to play on their mobile device. These levels are organized by playable character and by difficulty. Unlike its online counterpart, none of them were made by other users, and they can only be played on the app. The mobile app levels are also organized in chapters.

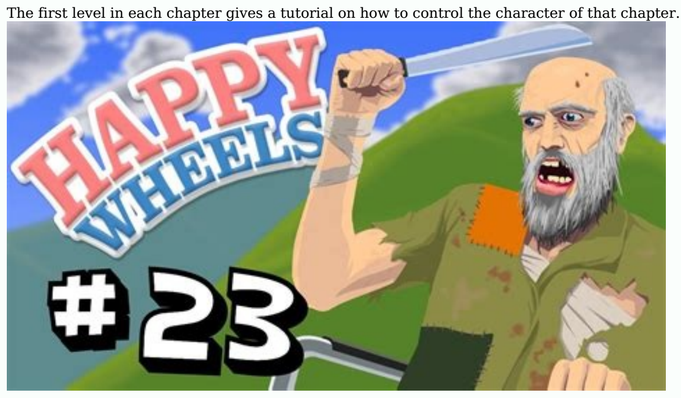

Each chapter contains 15 levels, (i.e. there are three rows of five levels).

These levels are (re)presented as small, transparent boxes, each of which is numbered from 1 to 15.

The first level in each chapter gives a tutorial on how to control the character of that chapter. That level and the following four levels are the easiest in that chapter, while the following five levels are of medium difficulty and the last 5 levels are the hardest. The name of the featured character in that chapter is shown underneath the levels.

Below that, there is a "catchy" sentence written about the character and the levels (however, only the first three chapters have this). When completing a level and exiting it, a little yellow flag appears on the bottom-right corner of the level, showing that you have completed it. If you complete all the available levels in that chapter (regardless of whether all 15 levels have been added or not), the game will check through all the flags and then will cross off the character in that chapter by having a red cross bordered by a thick outline of a square fall onto the character's face (the collision is so strong that it actually causes the levels in that chapter to momentarily shake). After that, the screen darkens and the credits are rolled. The screen then brightens up to normal and you will be notified that a level from the Select A Character chapter has been unlocked. Completing 8 levels from a chapter will cause the corresponding level from the Select A Character chapter to be unlocked (for instance, completing 8 levels from the second chapter will unlock the second level).

In the case of Effective Shopper, only 5 levels need to be completed.
Any level that has not been unlocked yet will have a small padlock in the center of the level, instead of a number, but will return to containing a number once the level has been unlocked. Chapters Business Guy Irresponsible Dad Wheelchair Guy Effective Shopper Moped Couple Not available yet Pogo Stick Guy Level 1 Level 2 (incomplete) Level 3 (incomplete) Level 4 (incomplete) Level 5 (incomplete) Level 6 (incomplete) Level 7 (incomplete) Select a Character Trivia All of the character chapters available (except for the Select A Character chapter) contain at least one construction-themed level. There are levels from different character chapters that are very similar to each other, in the sense that they have the same theme. An example of these kinds of levels is Business Guy: Level 12 and Irresponsible Dad: Level 15. All the current empty chapters have the words "COMING LATER" in the center. However, before any levels for Irresponsible Dad were released, the Irresponsible Dad chapter was the only blank one to contain the words "COMING SOON". When the first 5 levels were released, the words were not moved over to the next empty chapter, but instead the "COMING LATER" phrase remained. If you completely close the game and re-enter, any character that has been crossed off will not be anymore (i.e. the red cross disappears), but everything else stays the same. There are multiple instances where this can happen. For example, if you go to a different chapter, play a level and then exit it, the same thing happens. It can also be done by going to the level editor and exiting it. You can even go to a level from that chapter, exit it before finishing it and the same thing will happen. The levels from the "Select a Character" chapter are the only mobile levels that officially have titles. However, because all the "Select a Character" levels are numbered, the only time when the title of a level from that chapter is mentioned is when the player is notified that that level from that chapter has been unlocked. When the player is notified that a level from the "Select a character" chapter has been unlocked, that level is identified through two numbers that are separated by a colon. The first number represents the chapter number, while the second number represents the level in that chapter. So, for example, 7:3 would mean the third level in the 7th chapter (i.e. the "Select a Character" chapter). Currently, there are 69 mobile app levels. Gallery Business Guy chapter with all the levels incomplete.Business Guy chapter completed and crossed off.Business Guy chapter completed, but not crossed off.The Mobile app thumbnail. 1 Visit the Happy Wheels website. Visit Totaljerkface.com to play Happy Wheels in your browser. There are demo versions available on other sites, but this is the only place you can play the full game.[1] Happy Wheels is well-known for its cartoon violence, including exploding body parts and spurting blood. Know what you're getting into. 2 Sign up for an account. This way you can not only play levels, but can also rate them, save replays and even create your own levels for fellow users to play and rate. Advertisement 3 Get used to the controls. Some other games in which you control movement allows you to accelerate the vehicle using various keys. With Happy Wheels, you use the Up arrow key. The other controls are shown at the bottom of the game window. If these controls are too hard, go to Options-Customise Controls. Here are the default controls: Hold ↑ to accelerate forward. Use ↓ to brake, and keep holding to drive in reverse. ← leans backward, and → leans forward. Use these controls to move over obstacles, when piloting a two-wheeled vehicle. 4 Play a game. Happy Wheels is easy to figure out, and half the fun is watching your character get thrown around the screen as you mash the keyboard. Click Play, select any of the featured levels, and click Play Now!? to begin your first game.
If you're more the cautious type, read the instructions below first. Most Happy Wheels levels are designed by users. If you don't enjoy a level, just switch to a different one for a new perspective. 5 Learn the unique character abilities. Space bar, Shift, and Ctrl will each use a special ability determined by the character you selected, or that the level creator selected for you. Here are all 11 of them:[2] Wheelchair Guy — Shift & Ctrl to rotate the jet, space to fire Segway Guy — Space to jump, Shift & Ctrl to change posture Irresponsible Dad or Mom (parent and kid on bike)— Space to brake, Shift & Ctrl to eject individual riders, C to switch camera to child Effective Shopper (woman with shopping cart) — Space to jump Moped Couple — Space for speed boost, Ctrl to brake, Shift to eject woman, C to switch camera to woman Lawnmower Man — Space to jump; can also mow over people and some objects Explorer Guy (in minecart) — Shift and Ctrl to lean, hold Space to attach cart to rails Santa Claus — Space to float, Shift to release elves after they are injured, C to switch camera to elves Pogostick Man — hold Space to charge a larger bounce, Shift & Ctrl to change posture Helicopter Man — Space to release magnet, Shift & Ctrl to raise and lower it 6 Figure out the goal of each level. Some levels are skill-testing obstacle courses filled with wrecking balls, spikes, gravity wells, giant spiders, and landmines.
Others push you off a cliff and send you into free fall with cocktail umbrellas and corpses raining down around you. Most have a finish line you can reach, but there's no guarantee. Keep exploring, and have a laugh when you die. 7 Understand how death works. Lost an arm or leg, or all four? Ignore the blood and keep going! Your character only dies once the head or torso is squished or severed. Even then, you get to watch your ragdoll fly around the level. Press tab or the menu button in the lower left to restart the level or exit to the main menu. 8 Press Z to eject. In some levels, you'll need to get out of your vehicle and walk or crawl around. When out of your vehicle, use the arrow keys, Shift and Ctrl to move your arms and legs. Each character works a little differently, but they all usually end up flopping in place like a fish. You can try alternating Shift and Ctrl immediately after you eject to walk, but this is a difficult challenge. Oddly, the easiest character to control while walking is the wheelchair guy.[3] 9 Find more levels. From the main menu, click Browse Levels to get access to non-featured levels. You can sort by most recent, most played, or highest rated, then click the refresh button (the curving arrow) to see the new list. If your friend made a level, search for your friend's Happy Wheels name, or ask for the level's URL and enter it using Load Level from the main menu. 10 Have a go at the featured levels. In order to do this, click 'Play' and you will see a complete list of levels that have been specially chosen by the editors to be showcased and receive extra plays and acknowledgement. 11 Play the levels repetitiously. This way, you will get extra fun when you persistently try and beat the level and get some laughs when the character explodes or loses a few guts! Classic levels include The Combine 2.1, Ultimate Payback!, Car Thief, Speed Bridge and BMX_Park II. 12 Change the blood setting. The gore of the game will only get funnier. 13 Play other players' levels. After a period of time, you will have eventually played all or most of the featured levels. If you have had enough of the featured levels, go back to the menu and click 'Browse Levels' where there are hundreds of thousands more levels uploaded by users. If these levels are good enough, they will be submitted into Featured Levels so you can always go back and check for more. Feel free to rate and save replays if you wish. 14 Rate and save replays. By doing this you can contribute to the Happy Wheels society and eventually be recognised as a full-on Happy Wheels user. To rate a level, press Esc or the Menu button in the bottom left hand corner and click on your preferred rating with 0 = Godawful, 1 = Really Bad, 2 = Meh, 3 = Good, 4 = Pretty Great and 5 being Superb! To save a replay, simply click on Save Replay and add a few comments if you wish.
Advertisement Download Puffin Brower for free on the AppStore. Go to our website in Puffin Browser. Locate level you would like to download on our website. Scroll down to the download section and click "Download File". Select "This Device". Wait for the download to complete. Select "Downloads" on the right side of the screen. Select the download level. Select "Open in ..." Select "Open in Happy Wheels". Select "import". Select the Level Editor icon on the bottom left of the screen (the icon has the pencil on it). Select the save button in the top left of the screen (the icon has a floppy disk on it). Select "Load Level". Look under "Imported levels" and find the level you downloaded. Select the "Play" button. Select the character you want. Enjoy playing the level.