Inklined Publishing Announces the Debut of Winter Time by Sevan Minaskanian,

A Coming-of-Age Story Exploring First Love and Anti-Bullying

A heartfelt young adult novel arrives November 17, 2026

LOS ANGELES, CA — Inklined Publishing announces the upcoming release of Winter Time, the debut novel by Sevan Minaskanian, a young adult contemporary story centered on first love, identity, and the lasting impact of kindness. The novel will be released on November 17, 2026.

Winter Time follows an emotionally driven journey through the complexities of growing up, exploring themes of vulnerability, connection, and resilience. With a focus on both the beauty and challenges of young relationships, the novel also addresses the real effects of bullying and the importance of empathy during formative years.

“Stories like Winter Time reflect the kinds of narratives we aim to champion—emotionally grounded, character-driven, and deeply relatable,” said Inklined Publishing. “This is a story that speaks to both young readers and anyone who remembers what it felt like to experience love and self-discovery for the first time.”

Author Sevan Minaskanian, a Los Angeles–based writer and lifelong storyteller, brings a deeply personal perspective to her debut. Drawing from years of imagination and a passion for emotional storytelling, she delivers a narrative that resonates with readers navigating identity, relationships, and personal growth.
