

This website is a publication of Rocky Mountain Advisers, LLC (“RMA”), an investment adviser registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission. Registration does not imply a certain level of skill, or training. This website (“Website”) is limited to the dissemination of general information pertaining to RMA’s investment advisory services, along with related information, publications, and links. The publication of this Website should not be construed as RMA’s solicitation to effect, or attempt to effect transactions in securities, or the rendering of personalized financial planning or investment advice over the Internet.

RMA does not make any representations or warranties as to the accuracy, timeliness, suitability, completeness, or relevance of any information prepared by any unaffiliated third party, whether directly or indirectly linked to the Website and takes no responsibility for such content. All such information is provided solely for convenience, educational, and informational purposes only. Third-party sites that are directly or indirectly linked to this Website may collect information, including personal information relating to Users’ online activities over time and across different websites and other online services. RMA does not control a third-party’s collection or use of personal information or tracking technologies. Access to financial planning applications, calculators, or similar interactive devices do not serve the receipt of, or a substitute for, personalized individual advice from RMA, or from any investment professional.

Past performance does not guarantee future results. All financial planning and investment strategies have the potential for profit or loss, and different financial planning strategies, investments, and types of investments involve varying degrees of risk. There can be no assurance that the future performance of any specific financial plan, investment, or investment strategy, including those recommended by RMA, will be profitable or equal any historical performance level. Not all services will be appropriate or necessary for all clients, and the potential value and benefit of RMA’s services will vary based upon the client’s individual investment, financial, and tax circumstances. The effectiveness and potential success of a financial plan depends on a variety of factors, including but not limited to the manner and timing of implementation, coordination with the client and the client’s other engaged professionals, and market conditions.

Certain portions of the Website may describe RMA’s or other professional’s recommendations or positions as of a specific prior date. Due to various factors, including changing market conditions, that information may no longer be reflective of current positions or recommendations. While information presented is believed to be factual and up to date, RMA does not guarantee its accuracy and it should not be regarded as a complete analysis of the subjects discussed. All expressions of opinion reflect the judgment of the authors as of the date of publication and are subject to change. No User should assume that the publication of any of this material serves as the receipt of, or a substitute for, personalized advice from RMA or from any other investment professional. Users should not use any Website content as the sole basis for any investment, financial planning, tax, legal or other decisions. Rather, a professional adviser should be consulted, and independent due diligence should be conducted before implementing any of the options referenced in the Website content.

RMA is neither a law firm nor an accounting firm. The tax and estate planning information provided is general in nature. It is provided for informational purposes only and should not be construed as legal or tax advice. Users, clients, and prospective clients should consult an attorney or tax professional regarding their specific legal or tax situation.

Except as prohibited by law, and as a condition precedent to accessing this Website, each User agrees to release and hold harmless RMA, its members, managers, officers, directors, owners, employees, agents, and affiliates from all adverse consequences resulting from any actions or omissions related to this Website that are independent of receiving personalized individual advice from RMA. The preceding sentence shall not limit or waive any applicable User rights under federal or state law, including securities laws and fiduciary obligations that cannot be limited or waived.

Professional Designations and Credentials:

CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™: Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”) owns the CFP® certification mark, the CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ certification mark, and the CFP® certification mark (with flame design) logo in the United States (these marks are collectively referred to as the “CFP® marks”). The CFP Board authorizes use of the CFP® marks by individuals who successfully complete the CFP Board’s initial and ongoing certification requirements. To earn the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must currently fulfill specific requirements in the areas of education, examination, experience, and ethics. Individuals who become certified must complete ongoing education, ethics, and certification requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks. CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board’s enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.

Chartered Financial Analyst®: The Chartered Financial Analyst® (CFA®) charter is a globally respected, graduate-level investment credential established in 1962 and awarded by CFA Institute — the largest global association of investment professionals. CFA® designates an international professional certificate that is offered by the CFA Institute. There are currently more than 178,000 CFA® Charterholders working in over 170 countries and regions. To earn the CFA® charter, candidates must: (1) pass three sequential, six-hour examinations; (2) have at least four years of qualified professional investment experience; (3) join CFA Institute as members; and (4) commit to abide by, and annually reaffirm, their adherence to the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct.